Lewis at N. Y. Hard Coal Talk

By Associated Press

As 400,000 soft coal miners trooped back to government-operated mines today, the nation's total of idle in labor disputes dropped to 371,000—lowest in months. However, 75,000 Pennsylvania hard coal miners remained out; 115,000 New York city commuters felt the effects of a strike in the Hudson river tubes, and CIO Maritime Union leaders solicited foreign aid for their strike threatened for June 15.

WARNS REDS—Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, speaking for a "peoples peace," in a radio broadcast, warned Russia against any attitude which would confine world peacemaking to a "closed corporation of big powers."

John L. Lewis, who obtained a welfare fund and an 18½-cent hourly wage raise for the soft coal diggers, arrived in New York for talks with anthracite operators and to attend wage negotiations.

The hard coal miners, like those in the bituminous mines members of Lewis' AFL United Mine Workers, reportedly also seek a welfare fund, though the union's specific demands have not been made known.

Return of bituminous miners will have its effect on employment in other industries. United States Steel had laid off 41,000 workers during the sofa coal famine. A company spokesman said it would take several weeks to get them all back.

Posing the threat of a new mine shutdown, a spokesman for 75,000 soft coal mine supervisors, members of a UMW affiliate, asserted they would not work without a contract when the colleries are returned to private operators.

Congestion in the Hudson & Manhattan Co. tubes under the Hudson river did not begin developing until today because of the Memorial Day week-end.

At issue in the four-day strike was a union demand the company grant the 18½ cents hourly pay boost accepted by the major railroad lines. Hudson & Manhattan employes belong to units of the engineers' and trainmen's brotherhoods.

The company's position is that it cannot afford the raise, because it carries no freight and cannot seek a freight rate increase. The unions announced they would start picketing Pennsylvania Railroad ferries between Jersey City and New York, but would not interfere with ferry service.

In the maritime crisis, Harry Bridges and Joseph Curran, leaders of two big CIO maritime unions, asked the World Federation of trade unions for help in their threatened shipping strike. They asked that any merchant vessel manned by the U. S. in event of a strike be declared "scab ships" by the WFTU

Curran and Bridges telegraphed the WFTU that President Truman had "seriously jeopardized" peaceful settlement of the dispute by his assertion he would operate ships with armed forces if necessary.

In this murky atmosphere, the CIO unions and ship operators resumed collective bargaining on the workers' demand for hourly basic wage increases of 22 to 35 cents.

The unions also have demanded a 40-hour week for seamen, with overtime beyond 40 hours. Seamen now work 56 to 63 hours at sea, and the operators rejected a 40-hour week as "impossible."

House to Hear Unions Blast Anti-Strike Bill

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—President Truman's emergency strike control bill came bouncing back to the House today—straight into a rump hearing called to air organized labor's opposition to it. Sixteen members critical of the measure—both in its original strike-draft form and as modified by the Senate—invited four top union chiefs to the unusual session.

They also called upon all their colleagues to attend the gathering, which Rep. De Lacy (D.) of Washington said was designed to "stem all this hysteria."

The House passed the measure 306 to 13 less than two hours after it was requested by Mr. Truman. The Senate passed the bill Saturday.

Invited to testify today are Chief William Green, CIO President Philip Murray, Secretary-Treasurer A. E. Lyons of the Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n, and President Harvey Brown of the International Ass'n of Machinists.

As passed by the House the bill would give the President broad powers to seize essential plants if work stoppages occur and to draft individuals necessary to run them. The Senate deleted the draft authority, but left in the power to take over industries.

The measure now is awaiting House action again, but Speaker Rayburn (D.) of Texas, said no decision is expected before Thursday. At that time the House may decide whether to accept the Senate version or send the two drafts to a conference committee to work out a compromise.

France Rebuffs Reds In Republican Sweep

PARIS, June 3 (AP)—French Communists received their second setback within a month today as returns from yesterday's election for a new constituent assembly showed the middle-of-the-road popular Republican movement (MRP) had become the nation's strongest political party. Socialists took an even sharper defeat than Communists, as the political pendulum swung away from the left, continuing the trend noted in the May 5 referendum, when a Communist-Socialist constitution was rejected. Although returns still had not been received from the colonies, which hold 60-odd seats, the MRP was assured of at least 10 more seats than it held in the last assembly and at least one more seat than Communists previously held, the ministry of the interior said.

Complete but unofficial returns from France and Corsica, as announced by the Ministry, showed:

MRP 160 seats, compared with 150 in the last Assembly.

Communists 145, compared with 159.

Socialists 115, compared with 146.

Republican Liberals 59, compared with 64.

Republican Rally (Radical-Socialist) 43, compared with 60.

Judging from returns in the last two elections, the general trend will not be affected by returns from the colonies.

Even before the final tabulation rumors were heard at the Ministry that the MRP might invite Gen. Charles De Gaulle to return as head of the new provisional government. These reports were without confirmation however.

Both Parties Claim Victory in Italy

ROME, June 3 (AP)—Both Republicans and Royalists predicted victory by comfortable margins today as Italy completed a plebiscite which will determine whether the nation is to be a monarchy or a republic.

The official verdict will not be announced until after June 7.

King Umberto voted about 45 minutes before the polls were to close. A small crowd of last-minute voters cheered the king as he entered and left the polling place in the fashionable Parioli section. Umberto, bareheaded and wearing a double-breasted gray suit, was accompanied by Falcone Lucifero, minister of the royal household and his campaign manager.

There still were long lines of voters waiting before many Rome polling places at midmorning today, and election officials were instructed to keep the booths open until all those in line had voted.

Divers Hunt 22 Bodies On Army Troop Plane

NAPLES, June 3 (AP)—Deep-sea divers joined a search today for the bodies of 22 missing persons aboard a U. S. Army transport plane which plunged into the sea Saturday en route to the United States from India with 38 returning U. S. military personnel.

The four-engined ship caught fire in the air, and Army officials said the crash occurred when passengers, trying to escape the fire, ran to the rear of the ship, throwing it into a tail-spin.

Two Tars Seized In Bikini Fires

BIKINI ATOLL, June 3 (INS)—A "sabotage" scare in connection with forthcoming Bikini atom bomb tests was cleared up today with arrest of two Navy enlisted men suspected of being pyromaniacs.

Seabees and other naval personnel working on installations connected with the Bikini tests have been plagued recently by the outbreak of fires at scattered points but the incidents have not been disclosed for publication and the two suspects were not identified.

Taxi Murder Clue Is Given By 2d Cabbie

Boston police marked time today as State detectives and officals of the Somerville and Medford departments searched for the jittery killer of Frank T. Morrissey, 35, Roslindale taxi driver and father of three children.

Investigators had a promising clue to thet slaying of the driver, whose body was found in Medford and his cab abandoned several miles away in Cambridge, in the repor today of James S. McKay, Cambridge cab driver, that he had picked up a fare early yesterday, not far from where the death cab was parked.

McKay reported to police the fare, a young man, hatless and with blond hair and a prominent nose, asked him several times about how much money he made.

He said the man left the cab in Beacon st., Cambridge, beyond Inman sq. but he did not know the exact address of the house, which was near a block of stores.

As far as investigators could learn, Morrissey picked up his final fare of the night in Roxbury and had intended to go home soon afterward. A Roxbury business man, one of his last passengers, volunteered information to police but his story could shed no light on the crime.

Police Supt. Fallon said Boston police were taking no active part in the investigation for the present but were ready to move as soon as any request came from officials probing the killing.

Examination of the death bullet by Charles Van Amburgh, Jr., state ballistics expert, diclosed that the murder weapon was of foreign type and possibly brought back from overseas as a souvenir by an ex-serviceman.

Where the taxi driver was murdered is a matter of conjecture. Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson, Lt. Insp. Joseph Crescio and Det. James D. Cunniff of the state police, and officials of the Medford, Somerville, Arlington and Cambridge police are jointly probing the slaying.

Police have learned that a few hours before the murder, Morrissey telephoned his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrissey, of Bradfield ave., Roslindale, that he was then in Arlington and expected to work until 2 a. m. He promised to purchase some chop suey and be home to "have a snack" with her shortly after that time.

Morrissey's body was discovered by John "Buddy" Wenz, 13, of Auburn st., Medford, while on his way to church. The dead man's pockets were turned inside out, his cap lay nearby and there was evidence that he had been dragged to the spot.

The abandoned cab, the right side of the front seat drenched with blood, was recovered as the result of a telephone call by Mrs. Ada Christo of Pleasant st., to the Kenmore Taxi Co., Inc., of Boston, stating that one of the company's cabs had been parked almost in front of her home for several hours.

An exploded cartridge case found on the floor in the rear of the cab was identified as having been fired from a .32-calibre automatic pistol, and from bloodstains found on the right side of the front seat, police believe Morrissey was shot by a fare from the back seat.

Although the victim's pockets were turned inside out, indicating robbery as a motive for the crime, investigators expressed the belief Morrissey probably had only about $15 in his possession at the time he was slain.

An examination of the cab showed the right side and back of the front seat were drenched with blood, according to the district attorney. State Chemist Joseph Walker, who found the ejected cartridge shell, was going over it carefully for finger prints.

The slain man leaves his wife, Elizabeth J. Morrissey, 34, and three children, Francis 8; Robert, 7, and Thomas, 2; a brother, James, sister, Catherine, and a father, Patrick.

Bread Outlook Gloomy As Flour Supply Fades

With local flour stocks dwindling to a minimum and bakeries unable to maintain adequate supplies of bread, harassed housewives of Greater Boston today continued their disheartening search for the vital commodity, and state and local authorities took steps to meet the emergency. So acutely had the bread shortage developed during the week-end that Gov. Tobin issued an appeal to adults to seek substitutes wherever possible in order that children and those on special diets may have the bread they need.

Dr. Frederick J. Bailey, health commissioner for Boston, advocated the rationing of bread to insure a fair distribution.

Grocers also would prefer a rationing program to relieve them of the distribution headache, but many bakers felt there wasn't time to adopt a rationing program before the crisis has passed.

Every member of the New England delegation in Congress received telegrams today from Mayor Curley and other civic leaders, urging them to call for immediate government action to alleviate the flour shortage in this area.

John P. McBride, State commissioner of the Division on Necessaries of Life, declared the shortage would become worse, as result of taking wheat from mills for export shipment. He predicted the shortage would become progressively severe until at least late in the month and possibly into July.

With breadlines forming outside many bakeries and food shops, the first disorder calling for police intervention came from East Boston, where police were called to restore order among scores of women battling to obtain bread at a Cottage st. bakery.

A checkup at most of the larger bread-baking plants in Greater Boston disclosed that close to 70 per cent of the normal supply would be available today, but company officials warned that they had only from one to three weeks' supply of flour on hand and would have to use it conservatively to maintain deliveries

To conserve supplies, some bakery executives favored closing of all bakeries one day a week and indicated they were seriously considering the step.

A spokesman for one of the leading chain groceries said his bakery would put out about 75 per cent of its normal bread supply today, but added that a 60 per cent cut was expected within a few days.

Meantime, the drive of the Boston retail stores to obtain pledges from 500,000 Greater Boston housewives to conserve food, especially bread and fats, opened today, with pledge certificates available at all member stores and in local newspapers.

Earl D. Warner, president of Hovey's, is chairman of the Boston Retail Committee of President Truman's Famine Emergency Relief Committee. The local committee includes Owen Stoner of Filene's, James C. Davis of R. H. Stearns and Will Brown of Hovey's.

Grand Jury to Get Vote Fraud Cases Tomorrow

A full scale inquiry into alleged election frauds in Suffolk County will be opened tomorrow by Atty. Gen. Barnes before a special grand jury session, called as an outgrowth of the allegedly fraudulent nomination papers of J. Ralph Granara, graves registration officer, who was ruled off the ballot as a candidate for Governor's Councilor in the Fourth District.

Disclosure Barnes was going to present grand jury evidence was made by Dist. Atty. Foley, with whom the attorney -general conferred.

It followed a municipal court session today in which Judge Gillen continued until June 20, two days after the primary elections, the cases of Grenara and three other North End defendants.

Gernara and the others, including Joseph A. Langane, 3d, son of the election commissioner, are charged with conspiracy to file false nomination papers in Granara's behalf.

Paul E. Riley and Joseph L. Statuto are co-defendants. Garnara, in addition, is charged with filing a false nomination paper.

His papers were allegedly forged in the Langone undertaking establishment in the North End, then rubbed on the floor to simulate wear and tear and as bona fide nomination papers receive.

3 Murderers Seek Pardons

The state advisory board of pardons will grant hearings June 11 to three murderers who were sentenced to life imprisonment in 1931 and have served the 15 years necessary under the law to qualify for reconsideration.

Among the trio is Russell B. Noble of Haverhill, who was convicted May 25, 1931, of the second degree slaying of Mrs. Clara Ellis, wealthy Summer st., Haverhill, widow. Noble appealed for commutation of sentence in 1936 but was opposed by Dist. Atty. Cregg.

The other lifers making a bid for release are Bernard Thompson, Dorchester, and John D. Wall, Somerville.

Thompson was convicted May 26, 1931, of slaying his aunt, Mrs. Katherine E. Wight, Saugus, while under the influence of liquor.

Wall was sentenced for the murder of a Somerville filling station proprietor, Feb. 24, 1931. The victim was Evangelista L. Bagni, slain in a holdup.

Arraign Farmhand In Warren Murder

WORCESTER, June 3—Walter J. Donahue, 24, State Prison parolee, sought since May 13 in connection with the axe-slaying of his employer, Albert Theberge, 45-year-old West Warren farmer and father of four children, was to be arraigned today in Brookfield district court charged with the murder.

Trapped in a local hotel after a 15-hour virgil by police, where he had registered under the assumed name of Walter Bell, the accused man admitted the slaying, according to police, and signed a statement that he had killed Theberge so he could steal the farmer's car and registration and drive to persuade a girl marine there to marry him.

Learning Donahue had registered at the hotel Friday night under the Walter Bell alias, the same name under which he had registered there the night following the Theberge murder, Lt. Insp. Frank Carroll and two other Worcester policemen went to the hotel and waited in his room. Donahue returned to the room early Sunday.

"Hello, Walter," Insp. Carroll said, "you know what we're here for."

"Yes, this is it." Carroll quoted Donahue as replying. "I knew it was coming and I'm glad it's over."

Taken to headquarters, Donahue then signed a confession, officials said, after which he was booked on the murder charge and turned over to the jurisdiction of state police.

Donahue was known to police as a "Whistling Romeo," and police had seized in his hotel room a date book containing the names and addresses of many girls, some of whom were questioned at the time of his disappearance, following the farmer's murder.

Recently, according to Donahue's alleged confession, he had fallen in love with a girl in the Marine Corps Reserve, and had vainly urged her to marry him. He planned to again press his suit by making a trip to her Marine post in North Carolina.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate

THERE IS THIS TO BE UNDERSTOOD about the coal industry in both the United States and Great Britain—it is dying. Coal, once the very heart of industry, each year grows less essential. Already many railroads are electrified or are using Diesel engines; ships at sea are increasingly using oil; the airplane never used coal.

Home-heating by oil and natural gas increases; soon electricity, perhaps electronics, will provide all the light and heat required for household uses. Heavy industries increasingly turn to hydro-electric power; if coal becomes too expensive, such power as TVA provides will find more general usage in all industry.

The question arises as to whether John L. Lewis won a victory for his men. It is estimated that the cost of producing coal has increased more than 150 per cent since the war started. The correctness of the estimate does not matter, for the increase is obvious. In all but a few industries, coal is no longer essential and therefore faces competition on a price basis with heat and power-producing substitutes.

As the price rises, the law of diminishing returns sets in. Coal, except perhaps for steel-making, is on the way out.

On the other hand, John L. Lewis, the coal industry and the steel industry face the grim fact that coal miners must be extraordinarily well paid to work in this industry at all. It is so unattractive a vocation that it is not at all impossible that before long coal-miners will be among the highest paid workers in the country, if there are to be any coal miners. John Lewis' welfare fund is an indirect wage and a direct increase in the cost of production.

Many coal miners have already left this hazardous industry for other fields. Among steel, automobile, and rubber tire workers are many men who once held membership cards in John L. Lewis' union. They now work above ground, under more wholesome conditions.

In the old days, the coal operators recruited labor in Europe. Each year, they would import Hungarians, Poles, Slovaks and other Europeans to fill their complements of mine workers. That immigration ended with World War I. The American-born sons of these immigrants go to our schools and high schools and come out with other trades and ambitions.

The decreasing labor force has been met by increased use of machinery, but even the mechanization of mining has not solved the problem of a shortage of labor and therefore the need to pay increasingly high wages to miners.

And higher wages mean higher prices for a competitive commodity of decreasing utility. It was assumed that the development of plastics and ersatz commodities would ultimately increase the use of coal. Yet it is now obvious that molecular science finds other bases than coal in this type of production.

And to cap it all, no one can today even indicate what atomic fission will do to coal. The atomic scientists speak pro and con about everything, but it is becoming clear from all their confusing reports that in time—and not too distantly—they will be less concerned with bombs and more with the ways of peace. They will apply their knowledge of power and heat to peacetime production. They will capture the force of the split atom and employ it in a tremendous, overwhelming utilization of natural energy where today coal is used.

This, more or less, is the picture that the coal industry, operator and labor union face. John L. Lewis and his successors will have to ask for more wages constantly or there will be no miners. In Great Britain, the mines have been nationalized, but it is doubtful whether that will solve the problem an iota.

In Russia, slave labor is employed in the mines to some extent; in some mines they employ incentive payments under a speed-up system called Stakhanovism, but the results are trifling.

The real trouble is that while coal is a dying commodity, it is not yet dead. And while it suffers from senility, it is a nuisance—but still sufficiently necessary to be a source of constant social disturbance. The adjustment to a non-coal era is slow and trouble-some.

Harvard Grads Meet Here To Map Postwar Program

Harvard graduates, more than 1200 of them from all parts of the world, were gathering in Boston today for the three-day "Victory Meeting" of the Associated Harvard Clubs, at which the university's contributions to the war and the postwar world will be discussed.

Among the first of the "old grads" to register at the Harvard Club of Boston, headquarters for the meeting, was John Fleet, '15, of Cleveland, new president of the Associated Harvard Clubs. Fred Sze, '18 of Shanghai, holds the honors as the delegate traveling the longest distance.

Roxas Wants New U. S. Loan

MANILA, June 3 (AP)—President Manuel Roxas asked the Philippines Congress today for authority to reorganize and streamline all government offices and bureaus and proposed an offensive against "inflation, lawlessness and economic inaction," financed largely by American loans.

The President disclosed he had asked the United States for a rehabilitation loan of 500,000,000 pesos ($250,000,000) in addition to a loan of 800,000,000 pesos to cover expected government deficits of the next five years.

Roxas' message also called for higher taxes, new rights and responsibilities for organized labor, strong wage, price and rent control, and any army of 12,000.

Hunt Sex Fiend In Girl Attack

While doctors at Revere General Hospital battled today to save the life of Mrs. Lillian Davenport Spizio, 29-year-old cafe singer, detectives began questioning dozens of customers and employes of a Revere night spot for clues to the identity of a maniacal stranger who attacked her in a parking lot at Suffolk Downs race track.

Dr. Daniel Licata said the singer was the victim of "one of the most brutal beatings ever seen here." She was given a 50-50 chance to recover from a possible fracture of the skull, brain concussion and an inch-deep gash over the left eye which may cost her the sight of the eye.

Mrs. Spizio, a resident of Porter st., Malden, was apparently beaten with a blunt instrument repeatedly about the head and left unconscious on the rain-soaked ground. Her assailant was a powerfully built man who applauded her singing in an Orr sq., Revere, cafe and offered to drive her home.

Also riding in the car was Mrs. Spizio's chum, Genevieve Stromme, 24, of Main st., Malden, who said the stranger drove toward East Boston instead of Malden, then turned savagely on both girls when the car reached the lonely parking lot. Miss Stromme was struck twice before she was able to open the car door and escape.

She said the man was wearing an Army uniform, and from her further description and accounts of several others who saw the man in the cafe, Lt. Insp. Philip Gallo of the Revere police said he obtained "a good enough description to know the type of suspect we are seeking."

Gallo, accompanied by Inspector Michael J. Foley and police photographer William Gannon returned to the scene shortly after dawn today and scoured the parking lot in an unsuccessful hunt for the weapon used in the attack.

Miss Stromme, an attractive brunette, said that as she ran from the parked car she heard Mrs. Spizio shout after her, "For God's sake, run for help. This man is crazy."

Returning to the highway, the Stromme girl attracted the attention of a motorist after several minutes of waiting, and she told him what had happened.

They returned to the parking lot, but could find no trace of the other couple, and she was then driven home.

Mrs. Spizio was found several hours later by Patrolmen Henry McNeil and George Faithful, making a routine check of the premises.

Blood-stained clothing which had been torn from the woman littered the parking lot and gave evidence of the terrific struggle she had waged with her attacker.

Mother of a five-year-old daughter, Mrs. Spizio has been separated from her husband for several months.

Girl Admits False Alarms for Thrill

Margorie Dingwell, 18, of Jason ter., Arlington, who "loves to see fire engines speed by," pleaded guilty in East Cambridge District Court today to ringing seven false alarms within four hours in the Lake st. section of Arlington. She is on probation in Malden court for similar offenses in Medford.

After hearing from probation officials, Judge Arthur P. Stone entered a not guilty plea in her behalf and turned her back to the jurisdiction of Malden court.

Arlington police picked her up in a doorway after a resident telephoned he had seen a blonde run from a fire box.

Marine Hospital here today, completely happy and thankful that her disease is leprosy instead of cancer or tuberculosis. They arrived with several other patients last night, after a trip by rail from San Francisco to New Orleans and then by automobile to Carville. "My wife and I are completely happy," declared the tall, grey-haired Marine veteran, who unsuccessfully requested admittance to the hospital to be with his wife. "We feel lucky that her ailment is not cancer or tuberculosis or some other painful malady."

"And I intend to devote much of my future life to telling the people that leprosy is not so dangerous as commonly believed."

Hornbostel, who learned the facts of leprosy while serving with the Marines on Guam in 1933, said he had "launched some publicity in connection with this affair, not to arouse sympathy but to enlighten the people."

"We have three married children who are not sitting around gnashing their teeth over this," he added. "They understood as we do that it is not a highly infectious disease."

Maj. Hornbostel said that in about a week he would return to Lederman General Hospital in California to obtain a medical discharge, still suffering slightly from beri beri acquared in the Philippines, where he and his wife spent several years together in Japanese internment camps.

Mrs. Hornbostel chatted with other patients. Doctors said she would probably begin receiving treatment this week, most likely with promin, a sulfa drug, or the newer streptomycine.

Shield Sick Wife In Mate's Death

Ill with a relapse after giving birth to twin boys three weeks ago, Mrs. Elizabeth Payne, 29, was due to learn from physicians today that her husband, 74-year-old Col. Arthur N. Payne of Beacon st., Brookline, was killed after a visit to her bedside.

Doctors at Boston Lying-In Hospital, where Mrs. Payne was readmitted after the birth, withheld news of the tragedy overnight and decided to break the news to her as soon as her condition warrants.

Her husband, a retired Boston and Maine railroad official and veteran of the Spanish-American War and World War I, was fatally injured while waiting for a street car at Huntington and Longwood aves., Roxbury.

Police said an inbound bus from Buffalo, N. Y., carrying 31 passengers, collided with a taxi at the intersection and a front wheel of the bus struck Payne.

Girl Foils Attacker In Furious Struggle

In a furious battle on a deserted street near her home early today, Miss Grace Marino, 19, of Paul Gore st., Jamaica Plain, fought off the advances of a uniformed man who seized her by the throat, and finally routed him by her screams.

The man, a husky youth dressed in the olive-drab uniform of the Marine Corps, tried to attract the girl's notice while she was waiting for a street car in the Park st. station.

When she boarded a street car he followed. She left the car at Boyiston and Center sts., Jamaica Plain, and started to walk home.

As she approached Chestnut ave., the man suddenly quickened his pace and drew up behind her, clutching her throat with both hands and said, "I'm going to kiss you."

Her shouts awakened several neighbors, including Miss Philomena Spillane of Roslyn pl., who telephoned to police.

The attacker fled as neighbors ran to the girl's assistance. Police found a black metal cigarette lighter that had fallen from the man's uniform during the struggle and are examining it for fingerprints.

UN May Soften Stand on Franco

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Evidence increased today that efforts would be made in the United Nations Security Council to modify a sub-committee report recommending steps for an eventual world-wide diplomatic break with Franco Sprain.

The report, circulated Saturday after the sub-committee completed a month's investigation of Poland's charges that the Franco regime threatens world peace, will come before the council Thursday for action.

Main recommendation was that the Spanish case be referred to the 51-nation General Assembly with a request that the Assembly call for a universal break with Generalissimo Franco if he is still in power in September.

Both the United States and Britain have consistently opposed a break with Franco, while Russia has advocated such action.

Fall Badly Hurts Harvard Student

Injured in a fall from the roof of the Harvard Lampoon building in Mt. Auburn st., Cambridge, Robert J. Bell, 24, a Harvard student and Army veteran, is in serious condition today at Baker Memorial Hospital. He is suffering from a possible fractured skull, internal injuries and fractures of both wrists and one knee cap.

Police believe Bell fell while replacing the Lampoon's sacred reached the bedside of his son Ibis on its roost. Crimson writers were blamed for stealing the Ibis three weeks ago and the bird has been missing since that time.

The student's father, Landon Bell of East Falls Church, Va., last night and a consulting physician, Dr. William Jason Mixter of Brookline, was called from his summer home in Gilbertville.

Bell, originally a member of the class of 1944, left in 1942 to enter the Army and at time of discharge was a captain in the air forces.

Shot Through Head, But Lives

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 3 (AP)—Policemen Sam Moore and Walter Applegate answered a call and found Mason Berney, 62, lying on his bathroom floor. He had been shot through the mouth and the bullet had emerged from the top of his head.

The officers said they started to call the coroner, but just then the "corpse" raised his head. They took him to the hospital, and attendants said he is recovering.

Dr. H. H. Southwick, who termed the case "one in a million," said Berney's life was saved by the fact the bullet coursed between lobes of his brain.

Sees Draft Spurring Volunteer Enlisting

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Senator Gurney (R.) of South Dakota declared today the quickest way to obtain an all-volunteer Army is to extend selective service for a year and increase pay. Opening the fight for quick Senate passage of selective service, Gurney lashed at House action in voting to stop all inductions until October and bar drafting teen agers.

He said a year's extension of full draft authority with a pay raise may bring in enough volunteers to let selective service die May 15.

Six GIs Testify To Beatings

BAD NAUHEIM, June 3 (AP)—Six witnesses in three different trials told stories of soldier prisoners at the U. S. Army guardhouse in Lichfield, Eng., being beaten with clubs, rifle butts and fists. One asserted his jaw was broken.

They testified in the trials of Lt. Leonard W. Ennis, Peekskill, N. Y.; Lt. Granville Cubage, Oklahoma City, and PFC. William B. Norris, Mulga, Ala. All are on trial before courts martial on charges of abuse to prisoners at Lichfield.

Pvt. Fred Moore, a Negro of New Haven, Ct. asserted Norris helped beat eight prisoners.

"We were called into the latrine one by one," Moore said. "As I walked in, I was surprised by a blow on the face, followed by several more. Norris seemed intoxicated by the way he was swinging wild. I suffered a jaw fracture."

T-4 Thomas Capello of Chicago testified he saw Lt. Ennis strike a prisoner with a club.

Europe Sees Wider Big 3 Peace Split

By KARL HON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

LONDON, June 3—European capitals are under the impression that there is serious worsening of relations between Soviet Russia and the western democratic powers—America and Britain—over [illegible] terms, conditions and general character of the peace.

Foreign Commissar Molotov h[illegible] recently charged that in seeking a naval base in Iceland, America was not inspired by motives of security but by quite different objectives.

Up to late today, the British foreign office has maintained silence, both on Molotov's statement in Moscow, and on Byrnes' broadcast in Washington on his return from Paris.

A pessimistic view is taken of the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting scheduled to open in Paris on June 15th.

America's announced change in her policy of reparations toward Soviet Russia and suspension of the Potsdam agreement in that respect, together with Molotov's militant statement, is believed to have fore-doomed that conference.

Angered by what has taken place in the United Nations Security Council in New York on the Iranian issue, and the repeated rebuffs handed Russia there, including the reception and welcome to Polish Gen. Bor, the impression is held in some circles that Molotov has put the United Nations Organization on the spot or, as some others put it, that Byrnes did so by threatening to turn peace-making over to the assembly.

In well-informed quarters there is the conviction that an attempt by the United Nations Assembly to abolish the veto power of the five major powers, or to draft peace treaties over the head of Moscow, will surely result in Russia walking out or boycotting the assembly, and thus bring about its collapse.

NEGATIVE IONS
IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

You'll always get enough of that wonderful stuff . . .

Shoo-fly Pie and Apple Pan Dowdy

Every housewife in America is being asked to sign this pledge. After you have read the information on this page, we urge you to sign the pledge below with your name and address . . . clip it out . . . and bring it to the Famine Relief Receptacle at any Boston Retail Trade Board Store. Your name will be entered on the Honor Roll as a voluntary member of the President's Famine Emergency Relief Committee

- In America we can kid about almost anything . . . including food!
- But in the rest of the world . . . in Europe and Asia . . . food is no laughing matter. The cupboard is really bare.
- In America we extol the wonders of our favorite delicacies with a song . . . but in other parts of the world the cry for just anything is becoming a dirge . . . a sorrowful tune . . . a counterpoint to our rollicking air which threatens to drown out our tuneful tribute to a Molasses Pie and an Apple Turnover.

THE PLEDGE OF THE AMERICAN HOUSEWIFE

THIS is my sincere and voluntary pledge to assist in saving the lives of millions of starvation-victims thruout the world . . . by joining and participating in the President's Emergency Famine Relief Program

1—I will do my utmost to conserve any and all foodstuffs which the starving millions of the world need today so desperately.

2—I will buy only the food my family actually needs for its proper nourishment and health.

3—I will neither waste nor hoard . . . nor discard any article of food . . . in cooking or in serving and will ask my family for the fullest possible cooperation.

4—I will be particularly watchful in the use of Wheat and Cereals . . . and Fats and Oils . . . and will try to make certain that not a scrap of Bread is wasted in my home.

5—I will make these little sacrifices gladly . . . for the sake of those who cannot enjoy my God-given right to live . . . and give . . . as an American.

I SHARE

- Unless we do something . . . and do it soon.
- We can write better music for the starving people of the world . . . if we write it with wheat and cereals . . . with fats and oils . . . and we can write it without changing our song. We can give them a new and wonderful song to sing . . . a song of joyous thanks and salvation.
- All we have to do is share what we have . . . use a little less wheat products . . . and a little less fats . . . and substitute fresh fruits and vegetables of which we have plenty.
- And we'll eat our Shoo-Fly Pie and Apple Pan Dowdy . . . we'll always get enough of that wonderful stuff. Your stale bread which used to go into the trash can will become crumbs for your Molasses Pie . . . and Apples will never be lacking for your Turnover.
- And the little you save . . . plus the little your neighbor saves . . . and the rest of the neighbors save . . . will become shiploads of salvation for the starving peoples of the world.
- The Pledge of the American Housewife is reproduced at the left of this page . . . we hope you will sign it and bring it to the Famine Relief Receptacle at any Retail Trade Board Store listed below . . . and have your name entered on the Honor Roll of President Truman's Famine Emergency Relief Committee.

Hiroshima Bomb Called 4-Tonner

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—The London Daily Express said today that the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima "weighed four tons and was so long that only a Superfortress could carry it."

The newspaper's front-page story carried under the headline "new details on America's atomic bomb" listed the source as from Washington.

Reports that the atomic bomb was as small as a golf ball were circulated by United States officials as a security measure, the article said, adding that all attempts to reduce the bomb's weight below four tons have failed.

"This means, say the Washington reports, that long-range rockets carrying atomic bombs will not be possible for at least 10 years," the article asserted. "A 100-ton rocket would be needed to carry a four-ton warhead a worthwhile distance."

NEW RIOTS IN BOMBAY

BOMBAY, June 3 (AP)—Rioting broke out again between caste Hindus and "untouchables" in the dock area. A policeman fired one shot into the crowd when rioters threw bottles at each other.

Reviewing the record of the military regime which ends Tuesday with the return to constitutional government on the third anniversary of the army revolt—Farrell said:

Atomic Radiations Surround Planets

AUSTIN, Tex., June 3 (AP)—Hitherto unknown molecular bands of carbon dioxide around Venus and of ammonia around Jupiter have been photographed at the McDonald observatory at Fort Davis, the University of Texas announced.

Dr. Otto Struve, director, explained that the photographs were made by a new infra-red spectrograph.

Such spectra are interesting, it was explained, because of the presence of strong atomic radiations.

20 Big Radio Programs Off Air, 12 Stars Now Available

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—A sign of the times is the number of radio shows going off the air this spring with no plans to return in the fall. About 20 programs are up for grabs, as they say in the trade, and at least a dozen are "available."

It's an internal reaction to shortages, production difficulties and tax revisions.

Among those now in the "available" class are Joan Davis, Hedda Hopper, Jean Tenyson, Hildegrade, Andre Kostelanets, Bob Burns, Dinah Shore Fanny Brice, Quentin Reynolds Phil Spitalny, John Charles Thomas and Paul Lavalle and his Stradivari orchestra.

In all, a reputed $10,000,000 worth of shows is departing from the networks and the officials are whistling by the graveyard with "statements."

"The few interruptions in commercial program schedules on the Columbia Broadcasting system," stated William C. Gattinger, vice-president in charge of sales," have been due to the continuing shortage of goods and materials in a number of industries. We are certain the condition is temporary, and with improvements in the flow of consumer goods advertiser broadcasters will quickly restore full broadcasting schedules."

"Variety," the bible of show business, reported a breezier bit of optimism:

"We have eight outfits with big chunks of money waiting for one 9:30 slot on our schedule," an unidentified network official was quoted, "and their money is as good as the stuff we got from the old bankrollers."

However the trend develops, one thing is certain. Familiar schedules will be twisted inside out and listeners will have to change their habits.

Johnston Pleads For Europe Jews

NEW YORK, June 3 (INS)—Eric Johnston, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged support of the $100,000,000 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal for Refugees, overseas needs and Palestine.

Johnston, now president of the Motion Picture Ass'n, said that "it is impossible to exaggerate the terrible urgency" of the crisis threatening the remnants of the Jewish people in Europe.

In a telegram to Charles J. Rosenbloom, national chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, Johnston stated that "the ruthless, cold-blooded attempt to exterminate the Jewish race in Europe has no parallel in recent history."

Sloop With 4 Aboard Found Off Cape Cod

The 34-foot auxiliary sloop Cuncuk and her crew of four, which had been sought for 24 hours, was found by the Coast Guard today five miles off Cape Cod. The vessel is proceeding to New York under her own power and needed no assistance.

Meanwhile, search for the 38-foot cabin sloop carrying two boys and two Winchester men en route from Camden, Me., was cancelled when the boat arrived at its home port, Marblehead.

Q—As a retired regular Army master sergeant may I receive medical treatment at a military hospital? J. P., Warwick, R. I.

A—Yes, if medical facilities are available.

Q—My husband has been in the Army since Dec. 27, 1944, overseas since April, 1945. Father of two children, he has 40 points and grade of sergeant. When will he be discharged? M. R. S., Swanton, Vt.

A—All enlisted men (except volunteers) with 40 points as of Sept. 2, 1945, or with 24 months' service as of June 30, 1946, eligible for discharge upon request. We have no additional information for the discharge system after June 30, 1946.

Q—If draft boards are not drafting any more fathers, how long will it be before the fathers are out that are already in the service? J. P. J., Burlington, Vt.

A—Our only available information is that fathers with 3 or more children are eligible for discharge upon request.

Q—My life insurance policy with a large insurance company places restriction on travel and residence. Does a similar prohibition exist on National Service Life Insurance?

A—No. National Service Life Insurance has no travel, residence or occupational restrictions.

Q—Can I name any beneficiary I choose to receive claim payments from my National Service Life Insurance in the event of my death?

A—Provisions of National Service Life Insurance contract give you the right to name as beneficiary (1) wife or husband; (2) child, including adopted child or step-child; (3) parent, or (4) brother or sister, including those of half blood. Exceptions to the above may be referred to the nearest Veterans Administration office for consideration.

Q—My husband re-enlisted for 18 months. He served in the Army three years of which two and one-half have been overseas duty. I have a daughter two years old and expect another child in December. I really need him with me. Is there any way that I could have him discharged again? L. C., Manchester, N. H.

A—When conditions of undue hardship exist and the discharge of a serviceman will materially affect the care and support of his family he may apply in writing to his commanding officer or his family may apply in writing to the Adjutant General, Washington, D. C. The letter should state specifically the reasons the request is being submitted and should be accompanied by at least two notarized statements by disinterested persons familiar with circumstances. For Three Generations

RICHMAN BROTHERS CLOTHES

It's not our age — sixty-seven — which is important. There are other companies as old or older. No, rather it's the way we've served the three generations since 1879 that explains why so many men prefer Richman Brothers Clothes.

During this time we've played a leading part in establishing higher standards of quality, style, fit, comfort — and above all, value-giving. The fruits of our 67 years of know-how in this regard are at your service—at little cost.

Although our large tailor shops are turning out more and more clothes, and our stores are receiving fresh shipments every week, we regret that it is impossible to keep up with the present enormous demand. So if you cannot find what you want, please be patient, and try again. Richman values are worth waiting for.

THE REAL LABOR ISSUE

THE ADMINISTRATION'S so-called "labor policy" appears to be confused and aimless only if it is viewed as separate and distinct from anything else that goes on in Washington.

It is of the same nature as the New Deal's reconversion program, by which the supply of merchandise—from fuels and raw materials to finished products, from the farms and cattle ranges to the meat packers and the dairy kitchens, from the cotton fields and wool yards to the textile mills and the clothing shops—is bossed from the Capital by the Administrator of Civilian Production, by the Office of Price Administration and by the Economic Stabilizer.

It embodies the same spirit and purpose as the administration's housing plans and a long list of similar legislative schemes, ranging from socialized medicine and federal control of scientific research to vast centralized satrapies supplanting state and local governments in the great river valleys.

The policy is, in fact, one segment in a complete system of CONTROLLED ECONOMY that is being riveted, part by part, upon the uncomprehending nation by diverse and devious methods.

At present this "labor policy" is being enforced in the guise of "emergency measures" to deal with the long series of demoralizing strikes in vital industries.

President Truman's "temporary" anti-strike bill would have given congressional sanction to the "policy" for an indeterminate period.

Within that period "permanent" legislation was to be prepared: and, with so much power already exercised by the government, it is a foregone conclusion that the "permanent" law would simply make the "emergency" permanent.

The essence of the New Deal's postwar "labor policy" is GOVERNMENTAL WAGE-FIXING.

The wage-fixing is accomplished by the device of government seizure of private property in which a strike occurs—a PEACETIME misuse of a WAR-TIME power which was first flagrantly and unconstitutionally abused in the Montgomery Ward seizure.

The next step is for the government to "settle" the strike—itself determining, acceptably to the labor bosses, the wage rates and working conditions of the men by a pretense of "collective bargaining."

When that has been done, the owners and operators, WHO HAVE NO VOICE IN THE STRIKE SETTLEMENT, can recover their properties ONLY BY ACCEPTING THE TERMS WHICH THE GOVERNMENT AND THE LABOR BOSSES HAVE MADE.

There is no assurance, in law or elsewhere, that the settlements will be such as the affected industries will be financially able to sustain—the alternative prospect being CONTINUOUS government operation, or government ownership.

In his "emergency" anti-strike bill, the President proposed a still further usurpation—that any "profits" accruing during government operation should not be left to the business but should be retained by the government.

HERE IS A FORM OF OUTRIGHT CONFISCATION THE LIKE OF WHICH HAS NEVER BEFORE BEEN SUGGESTED BY AN AMERICAN ADMINISTRATION.

There is a way—an AMERICAN way—of solving the labor problem, but it is NOT the New Deal's way.

FIRST, LEGISLATION IS NEEDED TO ABOLISH THE INEQUITIES AND RACKETEERING EVILS INHERENT IN THE WAGNER ACT.

SECOND, THE CORRUPT PRACTICES ACTS MUST BE APPLIED IN POLITICS AGAINST LABOR UNIONS AS WELL AS BUSINESS CORPORATIONS.

THIRD, LABOR UNIONS SHOULD BE REQUIRED TO INCORPORATE, TO HOLD HONEST ELECTIONS, AND TO ACCOUNT FOR THEIR FUNDS.

FOURTH, LABOR UNIONS AS WELL AS EMPLOYERS SHOULD BE HELD LEGALLY LIABLE FOR BREACH OF CONTRACTS.

FIFTH, THE EQUITY POWERS OF THE COURTS TO ISSUE INJUNCTIONS IN STRIKES, ESPECIALLY AGAINST ILLEGAL ACTIONS, SHOULD BE FULLY RESTORED.

SIXTH, JUDICIAL TRIBUNALS TO HEAR AND DETERMINE AS ARBITRATORS ALL LABOR DISPUTES SHOULD BE ESTABLISHED—IMPARTIAL COURTS TO WHICH LABOR OR INDUSTRY COULD READILY RESORT.

Two things must be abolished—(1) Governmental seizures by executive orders, of private property and (2) Wage-fixing by governmental bureaucracies or political appointees.

If, on the other hand, the Federal Government is to have permanent power to DETERMINE WAGES, then also the Federal Government must have permanent power to FIX PRICES and TO CONTROL ALL THE PROCESS OF PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

This is obviously the power the New Deal wants—and is really using now—because it is a part of the New Deal's entire program of SOCIALISM and REGIMENTATION.

This is exactly what the New Deal MUST NOT HAVE if the American people are to become again A FREE PEOPLE and if our matchless economic and social program is to be resumed.

By the river of life we walked together,
I and my darling, unafraid;
And lighter than any linnet's feather
The burden of being on us weighed;
And love's sweet miracles o'er us threw
Mantles of joy outlasting time
And up from the morrows grew
A sound that seemed like a marriage chime.

Now Portland, Ore., has something to offer which seems difficult to top. Argumento Thurlow, 96 years of age, has been working at the Powers Furniture Store in Portland for 72 years and is still on the job there regularly.

PLEASE NOTE — The shortage of salable goods seems very much in the acute stage in Eureka, Cal. Edeline & Baldwin of that city recently inserted in the Humboldt Times an advertisement headed: "For Sale. A large stock of practically nothing." Under this heading was the following:

Out of heaters
Out of driers
Out of friction tape
And pliers
Out of mangles, Frigidaires,
Out of ranges, wires, repairs
We're out of everything you need
But still in business,
Yes, indeed.

SAYS SHE—"You refer to a factory managed and staffed by women with no men permitted even to enter the building," writes a feminine subscriber of Boston. "That's wonderful! I wish there were a lot of plants like that in the women's wear industry. The executives of such establishments would have a sympathetic understanding of the clothes problems of their sex. They would place greater emphasis on the fact that women come in a wide variety of shapes and sizes. A real step in advance would be to have an organization of plump women engaged in making things for plump women. And tall women making things for other tall women. In the latter case, of course, neither men nor short women would be permitted even to enter the building."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—How about an old song titled "My Face May Be Funny But It's Getting Me the Money?" Do you recall it? A—What you refer to was not the title of a song but a line in the ditty "I Don't Care" which was Eva Tanguay's most successful song. Q—I have a vague impression of seeing the Liberty Bell on a flat car when I was a child. My husband says the bell has never been removed from Independence Hall. Is that so, or does my memory serve me right? A—The Liberty Bell has been removed from Philadelphia a number of times to be shown at expositions. It was exhibited at the Chicago World Fair of 1892, the St. Louis Fair in 1904 and the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

HOW ABOUT RABBITS as pets? A San Franciscan says he has a rabbit that is a remarkable animal and a most comforting pet. On the other hand Mr. and Mrs. Walter Purcell of Manzanita Beach, Ore., bought a rabbit for a pet for their children. When purchased the rabbit appeared very timid and shy. But such was far from the case. First the bunny hopped on the head rooster at the Purcell place and gave him a good thrashing. Then he attacked and routed the family cat. After that he went after the family's English Shepherd dog and in a short period had the canine completely cowed.

BEST SELLER — The film rights of the best seller "The Hucksters," a novel about the advertising business, have been sold to M-G-M for $200,000. This brings to mind the success of that great stage play of the yesteryear "It Pays To Advertise" by Roi Cooper Megrue. Remember it? Was extremely entertaining and amusing, yet conveyed quite a message regarding the psychology of advertising.

APPLE FOR TEACHER—Suggested for membership in the M. N. I. A. P. Club is Mary Cary of Kidder's Township, Pa. Miss Cary is a school teacher. By the way, how about this "Apple for the Teacher" thing? Did you ever take your teacher an apple? At my alma mater, good, old Public School No. 2, Brooklyn, I never saw any teacher presented with an apple by a pupil. Schools and school teachers were not popular with the kids in our neighborhood.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT died a little more than a year before Joseph Medill Patterson, who was for a long time one of Roosevelt's most belligerent and insensate supporters but toward the end of his life hated and fought Roosevelt with the same ardor.

Westbrook Pegler

Comparisons would not be entirely complimentary to either, for Patterson, too, had his faults and peculiarities but in his personal knowledge of the American people, which was Roosevelt's boast, Patterson had it all over his up-country neighbor. He was a roughneck by nature who had had street fights in his early days as a Socialist. He wore expensive clothes but looked like a bum and, for a long time after he came to New York just after the first war to start the Daily News, he spent hours alone in movies and prowling the streets day and night. Whether he was consciously "studying" humanity for guidance in appealing for circulation or just happened to share those tastes and enjoyed humanity's company and inexpensive pleasures I have never quite decided for myself although I knew him well. I knew him to be intensely patriotic in the "narrow" sense which is now deplored by the Communists and their semi-American friends as the foundation of Hitlerism because Hitler, too, was patriotic.

FOR PREACHING this patriotism and hating Roosevelt in his later years, he encountered a boycott whispered up against him, but Patterson was a great puncher who loved a fight and he never took a step backward, whatever this conspiracy may have cost him. Another of his enemies in his last years was Fiorello LaGuardia, whom he had praised absurdly long after he should have realized his mistake but he replied mostly with silent contempt and it was amusing in that period to observe LaGuardia's frantic efforts to elicit the publicity of some angry reply.

In its early years in an old loft building Patterson, called the captain because he had been a battery commander in the First War and otherwise "Jomp," through a corruption of his initials, J. M. P., the Daily News ran a happy and enthusiastic shop. He was a lenient and generous boss who would spend extravagantly to get a story, distributed lavish bonuses to reporters as well as executives and sometimes cared for the sick on his staff by personal advances of money long after the exhaustion of the standard allowance of six weeks' full pay followed by half pay for six weeks more.

CHARLIE MACARTHUR, whose play, "Front Page," took him out of the city rooms and into more pretentious company, was a mischievous young reporter for a time. Paul Gallico came in to review the movies, got fresh and disobeyed some order of "Jomp's" and was made sports editor and assigned to do a sports column, apparently as punishment.

He was a great friend and patron of Raymond Hood, until then an unrecognized architect, and some of the most fantastic of the stories told about "Jomp" were Ray's. When he designed the new Daily News building, uptown, Patterson abruptly decided that he must have his office suite flush with the street on a floor several stories above the first set-back. This meant redesigning the building with all the complications of plumbing and structure and when it was all done, "Jomp" took an office inside on a court.

HE DESIGNED an apartment house so that "Jomp" could have a penthouse and a private elevator and then, instead of hiring a decorator, Patterson sent a janitor friend to a cheap furniture store and had the place furnished, complete in the janitor's taste, right off the show-room floor. When Hood built Patterson's home at Ossining, "Jomp" insisted that the plumbing pipes should be exposed to view because Hood had once remarked that utility was beauty and they were useful pipes. By a hard-won compromise, Hood was allowed to conceal them in the walls but with glassed port-holes.

I won't bother you with speculation on his meaning to posterity. He was a great friend where he gave his friendship, generous and patient of weakness and failure, and an American of incomparably finer and braver patriotism than the cowardly divided loyalty of those who vilified him because his motto at the mast head was "My Country, Right or Wrong."

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—Ask most candid cameramen about the most photogenic doll in Hollywood, and they're apt to come back with "Connie Moore." This belle really "takes," no matter how crowded the cocktail party or how closing the hour. Reason Constance (Mrs. Maschio in private) is our subject today is that she is up for her gayest role in "Millionaires For a Day," with Eddie Albert co-starring at Republic.

Constance Moore

The story, by Ernest Lehman and Geza Herczeg, is about the depression in 1933, when someone turns loose a few thousand dollars cash in a small town and almost wrecks the community. Al Santell, currently pulling a Greer Garson and suffering from poison oak, directs—although the affliction has nothing to do with the assignment.

Those scary illustrations Salvador Dali made for Maurice Sandoz' eerie novel, "The Maze" may land him a contract with Jeffrey Bernerd who has just bought the rights to the thriller. Dali, you will recall, did some special horror effects most effectively in "Spellbound" and that's the same thing Bernerd's shooting for. The story centers around the legend of Craven Castle in Scotland, the world's most famous ghost run if you read your Sunday supplements.

JEANETTE MACDONALD-Nelson Eddy fans—move over, you have illustrious company. Frances Parkinson Keyes, who wrote "Crescent Carnival," the saga of old New Orleans that has sold over a million copies, was as indifferent as Garbo about selling her novel to the screen, until it began to stack up as a MacDonald-Eddy co-starring opus. Fact is, Paul Short who owns the stage, screen and radio rights to all of Mrs. Keyes' best sellers, told agents that "Crescent Carnival" was for sale only as a co-starring musical for Jeanette and Nelson—and, by gum, if that isn't the way it was sold.

Our own boy, John Reese, reporter on the Los Angeles Examiner, just closed a neat deal for himself. One of the most overlooked of O. Henry's yarns, but not overlooked by Reese, is "The Indian Summer of Dry Valley Johnson," and after months of negotiating with Leonard Meyberg, trustee of the O. Henry properties, he obtained screen rights to the story. It's about a sheepherder who sells his stock and moves to town with a pocketful of money. There's a very tender and screenable love story running through the humor. About once a year Meyberg lets go of an O. Henry story so John Reese can take a bow.

IS DICK HAYMES taking himself seriously? You can't argue with his popularity—8000 fan letters weekly to 20th and another 6000 weekly to his radio station, isn't to be laughed off. But first and foremost he's a singer—and apparently, a singer with a big ambition. Night after night he runs off dramatic moments of Ethel Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore and Barry Fitzgerald on his 16 mm. projection machine. Yipes!

Even though Danny Kaye doesn't want to make another movie this year, he's still rolling those great big eyes of his in the direction of Bill Goetz for that one "outside" movie. What it is—is this: Goetz has been trying to shake Jack Warner loose from "The Jazz Singer," the old Al Jolson hit, for a remake for Kaye and if Warner shakes—this is the bait Bill will dangle in front of Danny. Meantime, as printed here, the combustible Kaye heads soon for Broadway and a fling on the stage in a musical—leaving "The Jazz Singer" for a 1947 schedule.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: I'm interested, but puzzled, by a letter from Milton Stewart, fiance of Sybil Jason, former child actress now in Africa. He writes, "Sybil plans to continue her career when she returns to Hollywood and certainly she will have my co-operation, my love and understanding. She is due for a lot of happiness. Maybe, one day she will tell you of the many unhappy events in Africa. On the other hand, she may prefer to regard the whole matter as a closed book": Eddie Albert and Margo, just back from a delayed honeymoon in Mexico, reversed the usual custom. Down there the family serenades the groom, but he took his guitar in hand and tuned up for all of Margo's 53 relatives; the first book Milt Gross has written in years has the fascinating title, "I Should Have Ate the Eclair"; Bill Lundigan may go to Hunt Stromberg on a long term deal; 20th Century-Fox has just about given up on Alice Faye. Can't get her even vaguely interested in another picture! the Donald O'Connor nursery for the baby expected in August is cute. It's decorated ranch style and takes up a whole wing of their valley home. Couldn't be expecting a boy, could they? Orchids to the popular florist couple, the Chester Halchesters, on their sixth anniversary; Rusty Farrell and Bob Lowery, who bear watching romantically, being watched at Mike Lymans; Maxie Rosenbloom goes it single, meaning without Max Baer, when he returns here June 29 for a theater date. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: The 16th edition of a pamphlet called "The Boston City Reporter"—the April, 1946, edition—reaches us tardily . . . The preceding fifteen editions somehow missed this desk completely . . . This report devotes four solid pages of type to the "proposed Fair Employment Practices Bill for Massachusetts" and it lashes out at many citizens including Prof. Morris B. Lambie of Harvard, the "one dissenting member of the Recess Commission's recommendation for a fair employment law."

MISS ISABEL CURRIER, who wrote the entire pamphlet as an article called "The Common Will vs. The Commonwealth," asserts that the Harvard prof "favored only moral law to correct these 'gross injustices'" . . . Many other citizens, including a half dozen members of the Great and General Court of this commonwealth, are quoted by Miss Currier in such a way that they rear uglily from the type as bigots or oafs and—of course—"reactionaries" . . . The Fair Employment Practices Bill has been passed by the legislature and is not a matter for the moment, and it is to special pleaders such as Miss Currier and "The Frances Sweeney Committee," which publishes "The Boston City Reporter," that credit for the success of the legislation may be given . . . But Miss Currier's treatise made one interesting point which—in the making—claimed Sen. Donald Nicholson, present Republican floor-leader and prospective President of the Senate, as its target and victim.

MISS CURRIER quotes Sen. Nicholson, the ever-blooming solon from the Cape Cod area, as saying in the 1945 Senate debate which killed the Curtis Fair Employment Practices Bill for that year: "That'll be the day when we let ourselves be run by minorities" . . . Miss Currier continues, triumphantly: That WAS the day when Sen. Nicholson and legislators of his thinking on employment DID let themselves be run by the smallest minority in the state . . . the 1500 members of Associated Industries and the handful of anti-Semites who appeared as "individuals" . . . In other words, the "majority" in favor of passing a law making it mandatory for employers to reject no toiler on the grounds of race, color of creed was the entire population of Massachusetts minus 1500 plus a "handful" . . . Here—we think—is where Miss Currier despoils her intelligent special pleading for the Fair Employment cause . . . The overwhelming majority in the case was—as usual—the inarticulate mass of voters and citizens who took no outward interest whatever in either the bill or the theme itself

CONCEDING Miss Currier's claim that she speaks for a majority, we have a suggestion: . . . Massachusetts has many thousands of loyal citizens whose ancestors came to these shores from the once independent countries of Poland and Lithuania . . . Many still have blood ties linking them with the "old countries" . . . Poland suffered as horribly as any sector on the map in the World War II.

IT TOOK THE BRUNT of the first Hitler drive, and took a semi-final brutal beating in August and September of 1944 when the Russian army stayed within cannon-shot hearing across the Vistula while an unarmed army of several hundreds of thousands of Poles were left to be massacred by the Nazis ... Two hundred thousand died or were captured or wounded fatally in that forlorn stand on the barricades . . . Then Stalin took over . . . Poland is still "taking it" . . . A rehabilitation fund of $75,000,000 is being withheld by Uncle Sam because, in the opinion of our diplomats, Poland is not an independent state . . . The same aggressive "majority" which lobbied the FEPB through the legislature must entertain similar good-will for the oppressed Poles

AMERICA HAS millions of unorganized Poles who represent one of the few unorganized and ineffective minorities in the country . . . If we are committed to one world-ism, as we seem to be, can't we do something about recognizing that Poland is part of that world? . . . In the brotherhood of man, can't we start trying to help right here, Miss Currier?

Broadway

NEW YORK, June 3—Columnists have a gift for waxing nostalgic and recalling the significant details of 10 years ago, 20 years ago. Here is the way a columnist might dream of a decade hence. At that, it's a mild dream!

Broadway night clubs will be paying several headline draws at least $20,000 weekly. The patrons will arrive by autogyro to claim their reservations, and all headwaiters will be required to have an M. A. from an accredited college . . . "Oklahoma!" will be careening into its second decade, with the children of some members of the original cast playing juvenile extras just for the publicity of it . . . In Hollywood, Humphrey Bogart, type-playing slightly older menaces, will be on suspension at Warner Brothers . . . Van Johnson, still a bachelor, will be dating the newest starlet import, and his bobby-sox fans, now older, will convene at the Young Matron's Club for Van Johnson in his honor

Van Johnson

Women's dresses made of plastic will not stain, rip, shrink, but their colors won't outdistance the rainbow hues sported everywhere even by conservative businessmen. Bright green, yellow, and purple suits with stitched pockets and openwork shoes will blossom at the conference table. Evening gowns will tell all.

In the movie houses they will have seats when they tell you they do (by Congressional Order, this!) and the seats will be something you never dreamed of. They'll be adjustable, soft as velvet (recline if you like); the screen will give off the realistic illusion of three dimensions in color that looks like the color your mirror shows you, and for low prices the ticket takers haven't heard of yet . . . In the restaurants the tables will be roomy and far apart, with equivalent so up-to-date that your meals will be rushed to you within moments of your ordering . . . When you order the drink that's one too many, which you will still be doing in spite of several cycles of books and plays about alcoholics, solicitous bartenders will follow it with a tasteless mixture (on the house) which guarantees against hangovers or your headache back . . . Subwayites will rise on faster, cleaner, air-conditioned trains, which will get them home quicker than you can hail one of the thousands of new cabs. Along with the cabbie, however, you'll get a television set to watch on the way home . . . Waiting for you, fresh out of the teletype, will be your morning newspaper.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, June 3—I have long suspected our State Department was being run by a bunch of furriners who didn't spika da Englis too good, or at any rate employ same in their official utterances. Now I am practically convinced.

The other day the State Department issued this official release:

"The Italian government has desequestrated all property in Italy belonging to nationals of the United Nations."

Just look up "desequestrated" in any English dictionary and see if you can find it!

I VOICED the opinion recently that all able-bodied men who have been out of work for more than two months—recently-returned veterans excepted—should be conscripted into a labor battalion and forced to do something toward relieving the dire labor shortage.

I pointed out that it is almost impossible to get any services rendered, or to buy anything you really need, and yet literally hundreds of thousands are loafing.

Circumstances elevated some of them way beyond their capabilities, and, with the competent men returning from fighting, the incompetents were forced to step down. Rather than take subordinate jobs and try to work up again, they quit.

I have had a great many letters on that column, some calling me names, but many agreeing. Here is one letter, from a Washington housewife, which, I think, contains the best answer yet:

"Your column this morning on 'Unemployed' really hit home. For the past four and a half years, my husband was manager of a service station at a salary of $65 a week. On April 13 he was informed that the former manager, who had enlisted in the Navy, was returning and so my husband was out.

"After trying for a month to get something in his line of work and at about the same salary (he never applied for unemployment insurance) he gave up in disgust and today at 1:30 p. m. he starts work with an airline at $32 a week.

"If you don't think this is a bitter pill for a 40-year-old man to swallow, you are sadly mistaken, but he can't stand to be out of work.

"Yes, you're right, the taxpayers are the ones who will pay and pay."

On the other side of the argument, however, we have this from James Zipkowit of 537 E. 171st st., New York city:

"I am writing this to protest your column on unemployment. I believe you are up to your old tricks of misleading the American people. Your column stinks of Communism, Fascism and anything else which is opposed to decent American living. You say jobs are going begging but you neglect to say what these jobs pay. Well, I will tell you they pay anywhere from $20 to $30-a week . . . what you are really advocating is a slave battalion where an employer can pick up men for a song and a dance.

"By the way, I would suggest that you call at a United States Employment Service office and see how many jobs they have to offer in any field and at what salary.

"If you think that you can answer some of these points and your secretary has a little time drop me a line."

My answer is this. In the first place, Mr. Zipkowit, I don't believe you. Any man who can't get more than $20 a week today isn't worth much, to himself or his employer. Any man, with any skill or training, can get twice that and you know it.

Why, only last night I overheard one of the little colored shoeshine boys in the Statler say he was making $12 a day at his job.

Waiters, elevator operators, janitors, make more than your $30 a week. What did you tell them when you went to the USES office? That you wanted to be an accountant with a private office, a lounge on which to recline when you didn't wish to dictate standing up, and a secretary who looks like Lana Turner?

You will note, I hope, that I am answering this myself. My secretary is too busy trying to figure out why she should work for me for a mere fortune in wages.

Sailor With Lump on Head Sought in Lynn Store Theft

Search was pressed by detectives today for a youth in sailor's uniform who robbed Dustin Charris, 59, of $40 in the latter's variety store in Liberty st., Lynn, but missed another $200 when the proprietor drove him away with a club.

The youth entered the store, located less than 200 yards from Lynn police headquarters, drew a revolver and announced, "This is a stickup."

Holding Charis at bay, he took $40 from the till, then ordered the proprietor into a rear room. As Charis was passing a shelf, he picked up a broken billiard cue and swung on the bandit, hitting him on the side of the head.

In retaliation, the bandit crashed the revolver butt across Charis' forehead, opening a deep gash, and then fled the store with Charis in pursuit.

He fled down Market st., into Summer, where Charis, blinded by blood from his forehead wound, lost track of him.

"MAKE IT A MILLION!"

Since last September over three-quarters of a million men have joined the Regular Army as volunteers. Many of them are veterans of World War II, who know and like Army life. Others are younger men—alert and ambitious—who have recognized their responsibility to serve their country and to relieve from duty men who took up arms against our enemies.

Never before in American history has the Army had so much to offer in good pay, travel, education and adventure. And never before in peacetime has your country needed such a strong and modern Regular Army for world-wide protection of peace and security.

If you are qualified, mentally and physically, for Regular Army enlistment, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by finding out all the advantages the Army has to offer you. Stop at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station today!

Pre-Wedding Parties

A WHIRL OF SHOWERS, teas and supper parties precedes the wedding of Nancy Beatrice Hurlburt of Swampscott and A. Alexander Robey, Jr., who are to be married Saturday in the Church of the Holy Name, Swampscott.

Among the wedding festivities are a supper dance given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Robey of Cambridge after the rehearsal Friday evening, a luncheon for the bridesmaids by Mrs. Clement Kennedy at the New Ocean House and parties by Natalie Edmunds, Louise Breed and Lois Russell of Swampscott, and Carolyn Pym of Topsfield.

Mrs. Edward J. Dwyer

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers Hurlburt and a graduate of Bradford Junior College. Her fiance, a graduate of Shady Hill and Winsor Mountain Schools, has been three years in the submarine service of the USNR.

AFTER A HONEYMOON trip by auto through New England and Canada the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Dwyer will make their home in Weymouth. The bride is the former Ruth A. Whelton, daughter of Author Paul Whelton whose mystery novels top the best seller list, and Mrs. Whelton, of East Braintree, formerly of Los Angeles and Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

The wedding took place yesterday afternoon in Sacred Heart Church, Weymouth Landing, with Rev. John Cogavin officiating. The reception was at the Neighborhood Club.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white satin brocade with a long train, a fingertip veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white orchids. Her sister Marjorie was maid of honor, wearing full skirted blue chiffon with spring flowers. The bridesmaids were Gloria Swanson and Loretta Coyle of Weymouth, in pink chiffon with spring flowers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Dwyer of Weymouth, is a former Weymouth High athlete. He served three years with the Army Air Forces in No. Africa, Sicily, Italy, France and Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams of Cambridge announce the engagement of their daughter Margaret to Charles Billings Woodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Woodman of Cambridge. The future bride's father is Dean of the Graduate School of Public Administration at Harvard University. She graduated from Radcliffe in February with Magna Cum Laude in economics and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Mr. Woodman graduated from Harvard in 1941 and is now taking graduate courses at Cornell. He was released from the USNR last November with the rank of Lt. Com., after four years in the Pacific area.

TRAVEL NOTES—Many Bostonians are enjoying golf and fishing at Poland Spring, Me., where they are vacationing at the Mansion House. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Nicholson and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Woodhouse with son James, Jr., Lt. and Mrs. Whitney T. Ferguson of Maynard, celebrating his terminal leave from Army duty in the Pacific before he returns to his junior year in engineering at Tufts.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Cabot of Needham are spending a few days at the Waldorf Astoria in New York. Miss Linda Dewey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Dewey of Boston, has been chosen to usher at Commencement at Russell Sage College.

The newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Lillie (Priscilla Stuart) have left for a honeymoon trip to Mexico and will be at home in Newton after July 1st. Their wedding took place Saturday afternoon at the Second Church in Newton.

Eggs in Sausage Cases Tasty, Thrifty for Any Dish

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

WE HAVE A NOVELTY DISH to talk about today. It's one of those dishes that is so simple you wonder why you never thought of it yourself. What's more, it's especially timely right now, because it uses pork sausage, a meat that is generally available, and fresh eggs, which are most plentiful at this season.

We call the dish Eggs in Sausage Cases. And that's just what they are—fresh eggs, cooked in the shell, and later wrapped (without the shell, of course) in flavorful sausage meat.

LUNCHEON MENU

Eggs in Sausage Cases with Cream Gravy
Potato Chips Green Peas
Combination Salad
Small Sweet Rolls
Fresh Fruit Cup with Sherbet
Coffee

EGGS IN SAUSAGE CASES

You really don't need a regular recipe to make these. First, you hard-cook enough eggs to provide one egg to a person. Remove the shells, and wrap around each egg a layer of ground pork sausage about ¼ inch thick, covering the egg completely. Put them on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 40 to 45 minutes.

Now, take each sausage-wrapped egg and cut in half lengthwise. Two halves make a serving. Serve immediately on a hot platter, garnished with parsley. A delicious accompaniment is a cream gravy made with bacon or sausage drippings.

FIT FOR A PARTY

Simple as they are, these Eggs in Sausage Cases are unusual enough to serve to your guests at a luncheon party or Sunday night supper. To round out the main course, serve delicately crisp potato chips and new green peas. A combination salad of cabbage, cucumber, tomatoes and green pepper provides that delicious freshness that folks crave in a June meal.

Small sweet rolls make the meal seem more like a party. These are sufficiently rich so that most of your guests will want only one. What's more, you will not need to serve cake or cookies with the fruit for dessert. A mixture of fresh fruits, well chilled in their own juices, is both colorful and refreshing, especially when a ball of sherbet is served in the midst of the fruit.

SWEET FRENCH ROLLS

1 cake yeast
1 tbsp. sugar
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup of milk, scalded and cooled
4 cups sifted flour
3 tbsp. shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
½ tsp. lemon extract

Dissolve yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar in lukewarm water. Add milk and enough flour to make a sponge, about 1½ cups. Beat until perfectly smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place free from draft, until light, about 45 minutes. Cream shortening, sugar and salt together. Add to yeast mixture. Add egg, flavoring and remaining flour. Knead until smooth. Place dough in greased bowl. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn out on floured board and shape in any fancy twist desired. Place on greased baking sheet and let rise again about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven at 425 deg. F. about 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen rolls.

You Needn't Be Afraid of Sunshine

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

IT SEEMS strange in a century when people are popping vitamin pills into their little pink mouths with such regularity . . . that we should find so many afflicted with vitamin D fright.

Comes summertime (and it better stop playing hide and seek) . . . and every lassie yearns for the outdoor life . . . romping on the beach or tossing the elusive but strategy-demanding ball around the tennis court . . . the two places she can show off to her heart's content.

Sporting a lovely tan in summer is natural as gulping thirst-quenching drinks when the sun beats down in relentless fury . . . but too many girls are haunted by fear of what the sun will do to her. The result is . . . she stays under her beach umbrella or pink parasol . . . keeps away from the tennis court . . . and comes up looking like a very fresh bed-sheet . . . a perfect target for the first illicit sunbeam that winks at her.

So along comes a two-purpose preparation to solve the problem . . . a milky-white lotion that not only protects a gal from the burning rays of the sun . . . but affords one of the best powder bases available . . . perpetuating the pretty look at no personal sacrifice.

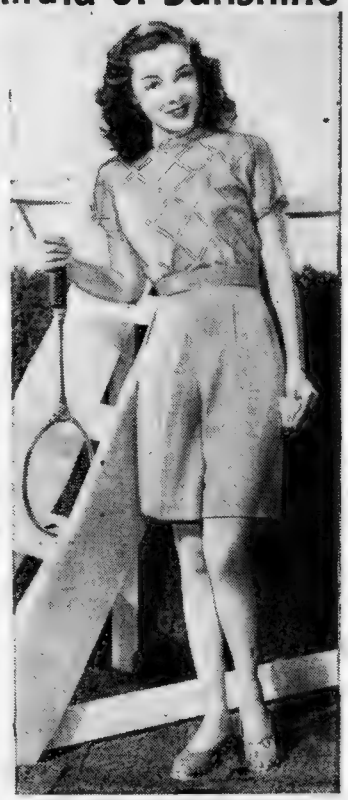
It is pretty comforting to know you can de-sun yourself . . . get a tan . . . and look like a girl with a fresh makeup job at the same time . . . especially if the Big Moment is love-setting it with you on the tennis court. For this lotion keeps the skin soft and lovely and protected because of the ingredients in it that deflect the burning rays of the sun.

When you look at the lotion . . . it is really hard to believe anything so milky-white can help you to such a dreamy tan . . . safeguard your facial claim to fame or what-have-you and maintain your complexion poise.

The same properties are also contained in an oil which similarly screens the sun from burning the precious pelt. It holds the same promise of protection . . . the difference being in your preference of an oil or a vanishing lotion. Either way you can sit or play in the sun as long as you like with no fear of looking like a boiled lobster.

For the name of this deflecting sun oil or powder base lotion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, every day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SOMETHING nice in shorts is MGM Starlet Kathryn Grayson . . . sporting the latest in Hollywood play clothes . . . and a complexion that's been safeguarded from the treacherous pranks of the sun. "To tan, but not TOO tan" is the burning question . . . and a famous lotion or oil that deflects and screens the sun is a gal's strongest beauty ally for the outdoor sporting days ahead.



IF YOU LOOK closely you'll see Polynesian dancing girls cavorting all over this first postwar pure silk frock . . . practical and feminine for summer wear. The all-over pattern was developed in black and white on a burnt onion tan by Lisette Verea. The blouse is made with short sleeves and a softly draped cross-over front . . . the skirt is full . . . and the belt is trimmed with circles of bright gold.—R. M.

Which Shall She Marry?

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I am a girl of 21. When I was 16, I started going steady with a fellow the same age. I saw him constantly for two years, and then he went in the service, stayed true to him for the following two years and then started going out with another fellow whom I grew to love. He is 14 years older than I, and has been divorced.

"Two months ago my childhood sweetheart came home from the service. My family is very attached to this fellow, and took it for granted we would be married. I know I don't love him enough to be happy with him as long as this other fellow is always in my mind.

"My problem is this: Both of these fellows love me very much, but they have left the decision to me. My family won't go halfway and meet the older man simply because he's divorced. I'd like to know if I should go against my family's wishes and marry the fellow I love (which mean the loss of my family) or marry my childhood sweetheart, of whom I am very fond.

BETWIXT AND BETWEEN"

Are you perfectly certain it is only the older man's divorce to which your family object? Is it possible that they might see in him some qualities that you have failed to see, but which they fear might work against your happiness if you were married to him? Do you know why he was divorced? If some serious fault of his, or some fundamental weakness in his character was the cause, then I think your family would certainly be justified in warning you against marrying him. You should find out about this before going any further, if you haven't done so already.

Perhaps, too, your family may feel that you would be happier with someone closer to your own age. Nobody can lay down any rules on the matter of age difference between husbands and wives. It depends entirely upon individual tastes and temperaments. But when a girl's in her early twenties, an older man often looks glamorous to her—much more glamorous than when she's still only 35, and he's her 50-year-old husband. You want to think about that, too, you know.

My advice to you would be to wait awhile before making any decision, and in the meantime to try to keep as open a mind as you can about both men. After all, you've known the younger one a long time, and undoubtedly know much more about his chances of making a good husband than you do about the other. You're still very young. Don't be in a hurry about something on which your whole future depends.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

SELECTING ENGAGEMENT RING—It's customary for the engaged girl to accompany her fiance when he selects the engagement ring. At least, since she is the one who will wear it, her perference should be considered. Diamonds are the usual choice, but a star sapphire, an emerald, or any other favorite stone may be used.

Bows for Extra Touch

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE FASHIONS are going in for bows which are slung around the dress-cape for summer wherever the fancy of a designer wants to put one. They do a lot to soften the effect, and when they are applied by an expert, they are very nice to look at. As trimming a bow of the same fabric as the dress is about the best kind to have, because bows keep their place and don't become so domineering that they are the only thing you notice.

Bruno is a good hand with bows, and he makes wonderfully effective use of them on summer dresses, like the one Miss Dulin has sketched. This is a pastel blue American linen model that has a wrap-over skirt with two soft bows of the linen at the back of the waistline. The blouse has brief sleeves and a neckline that plunges at the back while maintaining a demure highness at the front.

Lack of Copper Held Threat to Industry

CLEVELAND, June 3 (INS)—The magazine Steel, national metal-working weekly, said today "the biggest and blackest cloud now on the industrial horizon is the copper shortage."

"Drying up of the copper supply has already pared supplies of copper wire to the bone," Steel said, "and this in turn has caused nation-wide holdups in home wiring, in the production of electric motors and in countless other applications."

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—How deep should dahlia tubers be planted?

A—Dahlia tubers should be planted in a hole about six to eight inches deep. Do not fill in the hole completely when planting. Usually cover with 2 inches of soil and fill in around plant after it has started to grow. Place stakes when planting to avoid damage to roots later.

Q—Every year we lose our cucumbers with wilt, and I have been told that the beetle causes it. How can the beetle be controlled or kept away?

A—As soon as the seedling plants appear above the ground, cover them with cloth screens or dust at least twice a week with rotenone or copper-lime-arsenate dust. Dust after every rain. Remove diseased plants as soon as they are noticed.

Q—Last year we lost most of our head lettuce from rot. Does this disease carry over in the soil?

A—These disease organisms may winter over in the soil or on crop refuse. Use care in setting plants so as to keep the crown slightly above the level of the ground. Much of this trouble is caused by setting plants too deep.

Q—How can crab grass be killed in the lawn?

A—Controlling this weed in lawns is largely a question of management. In early spring keep the grass cut short. After May 15, never cut closer than 3 inches. If it is only in patches, try shading it out with paper fastened down over infested areas. The shade should kill it in about 10 days. Then the perennial grass will come back. Do not allow crab grass to go to seed.

Q—We made the mistake of planting our corn in drills. How far apart should it be thinned?

A—Corn planted in drills should be spaced about 12-14 inches between plants depending on varieties. Do not allow corn to grow more than 6 inches before thinning, or you will damage the plants that are left.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Mmm! Summer's here an' so is the season at Sufferin' Downs an' I'm on the merry-go-round between the two of 'em! An' I'm busy operatin' my Grille fer the benefit of the publick, too! Ya know, Isadora Duncan interdooced barefoot dancin' years ago an' got cheers fer it. Well, I. Ort is reinterdoocin' the fine art of jitterbuggin'. Wat I'll git fer that I don't know—yet! However, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday an' Thursday evenin's on the stage in my Grille I'm runnin' off jitterbug contests promptly at the stroke of nine! The payoffs is goin' ta be fer the ladies an' will be—NYLONS! NYLONS — that is! Ain't that a lulu of a deal? Gals! Start comin' in tonight! My good friend, Joe Gordon of the Stuart Dress Shop on Boylston Street is givin' the nylons. Somebody tried ta tell me he wuz donatin' 'em; he ain't, he's givin' 'em! Incidental, afternoons in my Grille is the nuts! They's a good program of dancin' an' fun from noon on so if yer down town shoppin', drop in a while an' slip off yer shoes an' be comfortable. Yez'll get a boot out of "tea time at Ort's!" Business is good wid a lot of the old faces poppin' in day an' night. I'm leavin' ya wid the thought that the gayest, gay afternoon an' night spot in Boston is Ort's Grille an' at 25 Essex St. Adv't

'Whistle Stop' Fails to Click

Maritta Wolff's compassionate cross-section of sordid life in a small mid-Western town put "Whistle Stop" in the best-seller brackets and won it critical raves several years ago.

Brought to the screen by Producer Seymour Nebenzal, the film version presently showing on the Majestic and Tremont screens does a gross disservice to Miss Wolff's moving tale.

In its present form, it is sheer shoddy meller, completely miscast, atrociously acted, consistently obvious and unconvincing. For the girl, who has returned home from the big city and is undecided between two men, and the men, a poolroom bum who cadges pin-money from his doting mother and a too-slick-for-the-surroundings pub-keeper, you never develop the vaguest sympathy or interest.

Ava Gardner, familiar as the prettier half of so many Nat Dallinger shots of Hollywood night-clubbing twosomes, shows up to infinitely better advantage in that medium. She assumed provocative Jane Russell postures but she hasn't learned to act. George Raft, as the I-won't-work Romeo, plays it in a minor gangster key. Tom Conway, making like a Broadway bistro owner in his bleak drink-parlor, brings no reality to the proceedings.

Most abysmal of all is Victor McLaglen's lugubrious ex-convict bartender, doubly depressing because it is reminiscent in reverse of McLaglen's unforgetably fine performance in "The Informer."

It says here that Leonide Moguy, recently of France, directed. Let's add it up to trial and error and wait for his next one. P. D.

'The Green Years' Heads Loew's Summer Schedule

"The Green Years," which critics have called "a wonderful motion picture," heads the group of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer productions listed for the summer months at Loew's State and Orpheum theatres.

Recently given its premiere at Radio City Music Hall, New York, it had seven weeks' run and was winning material. Charles Coburn, Dean Stockwell, Tom Drake and Beverly Tyler, a lovely newcomer, were all acclaimed for their performances.

"That Man Van" Johnson will be a summertime visitor in a light-hearted comedy with plenty of music, "Easy to Wed."

Produced in technicolor, the plot merits Van to sing and dance, as well as to romance two leading ladies, Esther Williams (his "Thrill of a Romance" partner) and Lucille Ball. Funnyman Keenan Wynn completes the stellar quartet.

Loew's summertime listings also include vehicles for MGM's and Hollywood's—foremost child stars: Jackie "Butch" Jenkins goes west in "Boys' Ranch" (with James Craig and Skippy Homeier) and Margaret O'Brien goes Irish in "Three Wise Fools," filmization of the stage play, with the title roles played by Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone and Edward Arnold.

Lassie, America's favorite dog, will be presented in a new adventure, filmed in Technicolor and called "Courage of Lassie." Elizabeth Taylor, of "National Velvet," heads the humans in the cast.

MGM rounds out its diversified list with a comedy, "Faithful in My Fashion," which co-stars Tom Drake and Donna Reed in the story of a young man who comes back from the wars to find the girl of his dreams engaged to another man—and promoted to a job that tops his pre-war work. Edward Everett Horton is the amateur Cupid who helps solve the problem.

As Prosperity Goes So Goes the Nation's Sport

By AUSTEN LAKE

IT'S A HUMAN HABIT TO HOLD the present in contempt. So a portion of our sports mob bathe Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Joe Louis and contemporary figures with moose calls, barnyard cackles and derisive whinnies. Current Mag authors gild the past and yearn typographically for the mighty men who made muscle history. Yet only this week-end a Illinois foot-racer broke the world's 400-yard record. The Red Sox are playing as good baseball as any in Ty Cobb's time. Byron Nelson is as great a golfer as Bobby Jones. Johnny Pesky ranks with the all-time shortstop wizards.

Austen Lake

Personally I submit that today's youth, as a whole, is potentially better at its job than we of past generations. Our masses of fighting men in War II stood up under hazards and conditions previously unknown to humankind. Army records show the average U. S. soldier was inches bigger and pounds heavier than his War I daddy. Track times have been shaved and game skills expanded. Facilities and equipment have improved.

Make Way for Youth

ALWAYS IN THE HEELS OF the current heroes of any sport era, comes the sound of following footfalls of up-growing youth. Always on their necks is the hot breath of kids who will eventually best them. For I insist that the time is not far distant when this nation will discover a new crop of famous-name athletes to replace our war-withered idols. I have the notion that round the country at this moment are boys and girls, either in ghandi-pants or the chick-shell of adolescence, who will frame the sport renaissance of tomorrow and do it faster, bigger and better.

Perhaps some fuzzy-headed tyke in the anthracite coal belt or the Texas oil fields will rise as the wonder of fistic slug, like Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney after the other world war. The home-run hitters, the tennis bums, the golf masters, the hockey conjurers, the varsity touchdown wizards and the horde of future stars who are now spindle-legged colts and fillies – all mites a few miles and years from becoming mighty. For the best is yet to come, unless our civilization crumbles and we allow radical minorities to seize America's way of life.

The past is only great in retrospect! I know from experience that we sport writers didn't realize that the "Delirious Decade" after War I was GREAT until long after it ended. I recall with crystal clarity how the fans and sport pundits blew editorial and oral razzberries at Bill Tilden and Jack Dempsey and Helen Wills, to mention a few of the great masters who passed under our caustic gaze when you and I were young, Maggie. Even Babe Ruth had his quota of belittlers. So did Gene Tunney! Some of our citizens like to see personages and things built high, because only then can they be pulled down. There is a little Donald Duck in all of us.

Sport flourishes as a nation prospers and the skill and stature of our big-time games depend on the ebb and flow of our industrial tides. The people's spending capacities create large turnstile receipts, which in turn sponsor better competitive shows and a wider search for individual marvels of muscularity. That goes for college and amateur sport as well as our commercial games and I predict a more violent scramble for varsity football beeves, gorillas and grizzlies next fall than in any pre-war period. This is the theory that the customers won't patronize a sport show if it is punk, which the promoters, both pure and sordid, know. Both are in business for profits.

SO HERE we are with a sport-hungry people paying $100 for ringside seats a gunshot from where Louis and Conn will battle. And box-office statistics show the ball fans knocking down the portals of the major league parks. It begins to be comparable with the dawn of the fun-fevered decade in the '20s when Tex Rickard and his 600 Millionaires presented fight extravaganzas for $60 a ringside squat and "Coolidge prosperity" was the buy-word. The only difference is that the stock market isn't roaring and the only commodities that are not strike-bullied are sport, fresh air and imagination.

Money alone does not create prosperity. If it did this nation would be floating in the crest of a boom right now. PRODUCTION makes prosperity, plus the people's capacity to buy. For as our factories hum our workers get paid in proportion as they make goods to sell. So we buy more and produce more, and the more money is circulated and the more we have to spend. That is the only cycle of prosperity known to Man.

Thus what happens to this nation's economics in the next 10 years will be what happens to sport. The two are handcuffed together! Looking back down the corridor of time one finds there have been three boom periods in American prosperity and athletics: 1—the dawn era of John L. Sullivan, Cap Anson of the White Sox, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett, Alfred Kraenzlein, George and Fred Wright. U. S. sport was just aborning for the privileged few and that fantastic jargon of the sport page was being incubated. People were contented (well, comparatively). The nation's industry thrived.

No. 2 was in the long, peace-time prosperity after the turn of the century when Grantland Rice was launching his heroic style of sport page worship. Ty Cobb came to his peak. Connie Mack insured his Athletics' infield for $100,000. Frank Gotch tossed Hackenschmidt. Chick Evans was the marvel of golf. Courtney's Cornell crew dominated the Poughkeepsie. Jim Thorp was performing his all round miracles. Willie Hopp was the boy-wonder of billards. And No. 3. the Delirious Decade!

The fourth American sport boom lies just ahead, if willful minorities and power-drunk politics don't wither prosperity on its stalk. If we recover economic sanity while there is still time then will begin the new and greatest sport era of all, when as-yet-undiscovered youth will surpass the speeds of Glen Cunningham's legs, the elfin grace of Sonja Hene's skates, the epic feats of Ted Williams, the pulverizing punch of Joe Louis. Then our future papas will turn to their as-yet-unborn children and describe the glories of the past, which is now the present for which human habit holds contempt. Nothing is so odd as people!

LYNN REGAINS PEAK

Winning three and losing one during the past week, the Lynn Red Sox regained first place in the New England Baseball League while the Providence, R. I., Chiefs dropped to second place as they gained an even split in four games.

Stephens Deal May Be On Red Sox Program

By HUCK FINNEGAN

The Chicago White Sox were to depart Boston's precincts after today's double-header, and tomorrow the St. Louis Browns will be in for three single games. Will Vernon Stephens be at shortstop for the 1944 A. L. pennant winners? That is extremely doubtful.

Stephens, you know, hopped to the Mexican League before the championship season opened. The A. L. and the commissioner's office broke their necks to get him back.

"There will be no penalty if he returns in time for the season's opener," Happy Chandler announced. Stephens was back in time for the season's opener.

Vern Stephens

He played daily until May 6, when he was supposed to have injured his shoulder swinging at a Dobson pitch in the second game of the double-header in Boston. He hasn't appeared in a game since.

"He won't," we heard in the West, "because he came back to the Browns with the agreement that he would be traded before June 15."

Stories had him coming to the Red Sox to play third base. There might have been basis to them because Thomas Austin Yawkey said negatively: "Advance publicity ruins many a trade." Yet Cronin denied he had ever talked to Luke Sewell about Stephens, and Sewell insisted in St. Louis: "I have no trades in mind."

When the Sox were in St. Louis, Stephens spent an entire rainy afternoon with the club in the Chase Hotel while Jimmy Dorsey was tuning up his orchestra. He seemed very much at home. He seemed to like the atmosphere.

Then came the denials. But Stephens hasn't played a game for the Browns since then, and the feeling between him and Sewell couldn't be very cordial, because Sewell had maintained: "We'll be up in the race when we get Stephens back. He'll supply the punch we're missing now." No punch is supplied from the bench.

Stephens led the A. L. in home runs last year, has been among the RBI leaders his four years with the Browns. He's a capital prize. His future may be decided on the Browns' visit here.

The White Sox were pitching southpaws Thorny Lee and Ed Lopat against the Sox' Dave Ferriss and Joe Dobson today, so Cronin decided to rest left-handed hitting Hal Wagner and use right-handed batters Eddie McGah and Roy Partee. Wagner is tired. He's caught all but five of the Sox' 41 games and needs a rest. He's black and blue all over from the bumps he's received at the plate . . . Sox reserve material in other spots will get a testing from now on. McBride was in right field today in place of Metkovich, Bill Butland probably will get a chance to pitch against St. Louis. The Sox will stand or fall on their pitching and reserves (double-headers are piling up), and now starts the crucial season.

Urban "Red" Faber, new pitching coach of the White Sox, joined that club at the close of the '13 season from Des Moines of the Western League. The White Sox that winter were to tour the world with the Giants. Faber, scheduled to be released to Toronto for further seasoning, asked to make the trip. There was no room. But on the eve of sailing from San Francisco, Christy Mathewson begged off, and the White Sox asked John McGraw to take Faber along. Faber went—as a Giant. He licked the White Sox every time he got the ball in his hand, was so sensational he never went to Toronto. He stayed with the White Sox, stayed until he retired in '33. He was a spitball pitcher, but his curve ball was his best pitch. He used his spitter as a "fake" most of the time. Incidentally, Faber looks as young today at 56 as he did in '33. And Manager Ted Lyons, who came up in '33, looks like a man 10 years out of college. They've got the good wishes of every man connected with baseball.

Packy Schwartz, White Sox trainer, is hospitalized here with smallpox, and football Yanks' trainer Jack Fadden has taken over in his place. He may be with the White Sox a week or a month . . . No more ticket mail orders for the Yanks-Sox double-header Aug. 18 will be taken, said Eddie Doherty of the Red Sox. The fans are looking far ahead. So far indeed that Stanley Sampson, formerly of the American, writes from Cleveland asking reservations be made for him and his wife for the World Series . . . The three-day rest helped Dom DiMaggio benefit a troublesome Charlie horse . . . Tex Hughson has a wrist injury (from batting) that may cause him to miss one regular turn in the box. If luck ever decides to ride with the hard-riding Texan, the Sox will breeze home. They've won 32, lost 9 already, need only to exceed .500 by the smallest of margins to cop their first flag since 1918 . . . The White Sox have won 5 of their 6 games since Lyons and Faber took over . . . Partee caught regularly during the '43 season for the Sox, played second fiddle to Hal Wagner during '44 and after a season in the service is trying a comeback. He batted well playing regularly, poorly when flitting in and out. He likes steady work, as do most ballplayers.

Conn, Ready for Louis, Will Try to Win on Points

By JACK CONWAY

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., June 3—Billy Conn came into the spacious dining room at Brown's Hotel after he had dressed following his workout here and sat down in a chair next to this writer. The challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight title declared he would not have anything to eat as his private chef was preparing dinner for him at a cottage where he lives half a mile from his training camp.

Billy Conn

"We pay our chef $150 a week and he prepares the kind of food Billy likes and which will be helpful to him," said Manager Johnny Ray. "Billy follows a careful diet and this has helped him to get his weight down to 183½ pounds."

"I never felt in better condition in my life," declared Conn. "I wish my fight with Joe Louis was this week rather than on June 19. The way I am boxing and punching right now I think I am ready for the champion.

"I shall win the title this time."

"How will you do it?" I asked.

"By boxing Louis," was the quick reply. "I look for Joe to come out fighting in the first round. He will strive for a quick knockout. He will also be challenging me to make it a wide open scrap. My plan is to box and not take unnecessary chances. After Louis' first burst of speed, he will settle down to a more even style. I shall then use straight left and right hand punches to shake Louis up.

"I boxed eight rounds today, punched the bag for two more and skipped the rope for two additional rounds. How did I look?"

There was a boyish eagerness in Conn's eyes as he looked straight at me. There was not an ounce of fat on his face or neck. One could readily see from his appearance he had been training hard for weeks and that he was rapidly reaching the peak of his fighting form.

Displayed Top Boxing

"YOU LOOKED so good in your workout, Billy, that I was surprised," I said. "I never thought a heavyweight could remain out of action for almost five years and get into such excellent condition. You boxed with lightning speed, threw punches from every angle and appeared happy to be tossing blows again. You have proved that with youth you can pick up where you left off when you went to war. Just like Ted Williams and Johnny Pesky did."

Conn's face lit up with a smile.

"I am glad you liked the way I worked," he went on. "I have boxed about 220 rounds since I started to get ready for Louis. I know I shall have to be at my best to beat Louis, and that is why I have trained so hard and faithfully.

"Joe Louis is one of the greatest fighters the heavyweight division has ever had. If Joe were a white man, the public would forget about Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey. Louis is a fine character in addition to being a great fighter. He has been a credit to the boxing game and to his race."

Mention of Tunney and Dempsey prompted me to ask Conn who his boxing hero was.

"Harry Greb," asserted Conn. "He was a better fighter than Tunney or Dempsey. I cannot understand why Tunney keeps saying unkind things about me. I have kept close to my own business and have always fought anyone the promoters asked me to meet."

There was a light of determination in Conn's eyes as he spoke. It was apparent that when he enters the ring against Louis he will strive to prove that Tunney and his other critics were wrong. This feeling will make Conn a better and a more determined fighter.

"Will Win on Points"

"I SHALL be prepared to box 15 rounds at top speed," went on Conn. "I shall be satisfied to win the title on points.

"When I started training, I weighed close to 200 pounds. This extra weight gave me something to work on during my long boxing drills and hours of roadwork. I weighed 183½ pounds when I got off the scales a few minutes ago. I would like to weigh around that notch when I battle Louis. Last time I weighed 174 pounds and it was difficult for me to match strength with Joe in the clinches.

"Look at my neck. I now wear a size 17 collar. I have also put on weight around my chest and shoulders. That was why I was hitting so hard today."

It is solid hard weight which will help Conn. Billy's waistline is still slim, while earlier he had moved around the ring with lightning speed, feinting and blocking, slipping punches like a middleweight, stepping first to his own left and then reversing himself.

"You did something today that few heavyweights can do," I remarked.

"What was it?" queried Conn with a feeling of expectancy.

"You would throw a left hook to the jaw," I replied, "and then score with a left hook to the body and with lightning speed flash another left hook to the jaw. As you know, most boxers hook to the body, and then if they are lucky try to land a left hook to the jaw."

"I decided I would have to mix up my punches to beat Louis," asserted Conn. "I still have youth. I am only 28 years of age. I do not believe the 32-year-old champion can beat me. The history of boxing proves that few champions amount to a great deal after they have celebrated their thirtieth birthday. Louis would have gone back even if he had been boxing regularly, but this deterioration of his body became more rapid during his five years in the Army. Of course, Joe is healthy, but boxing calls for more than health. It is a game calling for vitality, speed and driving power. One has that when he is young."

Earlier this writer had seen Conn display this type of boxing ability as he went two rounds each with Mickey McAvoy, Jimmy Smith, Erv Darlin and Mickey Belluscio.

Like His Old Self

CONN BOXED and punched as he had five years ago. When he said he would be ready to fight this week he was not exaggerating. The challenger has been brought up to fighting form carefully, and at this point of his training he is more advanced than Louis. He will have to slow down a bit between now and June 19 so as to reach the day of the battle at the peak of his form.

"Are you worried about Louis?" I asked.

"No," was the frank reply. "When I first met the champion I was slightly nervous, but now he is just another opponent. This bout is my opportunity to become a champion, and I shall not miss this time."

It was not a boastful statement, but rather one of a young boxer back from the war who felt sure of just what he could do.

Sullivan 10-7 Choice Tonight

Boxing fans have made Tommy Sullivan of South Boston a 10 to 7 favorite over Jimmy Nelson, the Cleveland lightweight, in the main 10-round bout sponsored by the Callahan A. C. tonight at Mechanics Bldg.

This will be Tommy's first main event (he has appeared in other ten-rounders on all-star bills) and it could easily be his last, for Nelson is the best opponent that the South Boston favorite has been called upon to face.

Nelson has appeared in these parts once, when he knocked out "Tuffy" Reed in Providence. But he is no stranger to boxing and he has twice turned back Joe Reddick who traveled 10 rounds with Jake LaMotta here.

But Tommy is well aware of the fight he has on his hands, and a fight it should be with Sullivan promising to keep swinging from the opening gong to the finish, much the same way he did when he knocked out John Henry Eskew.

South Boston will make this one of the biggest gates of the season at Mechanics Building for a delegation of rooters are traveling to the fight loaded down with gifts to present to Sully after the fight.

This match will mean much to the outdoor boxing season, especially the program matchmaker Sam Silverman hopes to be able to carry through every Monday night at Braves Field. Should Sullivan win he will be sent against an outstanding "name" lightheavyweight in one of the first Tepee tournaments.

Lanier Makes Good In His Mexico Debut

MEXICO CITY, June 3 (INS)—Max Lanier, former star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, was a huge success yesterday in his Mexican League debut.

Lanier, pitching for Vera Cruz, won his own game by hitting a double in the twelfth inning and scoring the run that beat Mexico City. Then Vera Cruz tallied another run and won 11 to 9.

4 Ex-Champions In WGA Field

Four former champions, winners of 14 state titles since the turn of the century, were among 64 entrants teeing off today at Charles River Country Club in the Massachusetts Women's Golf championship trial round.

The four ex-titlists were Mrs. E. H. Baker, of Oakley, five-time winner; Margaret Curtis, of Essex who won her first cup in 1961 and her last in 1914; Rosamond Vahey of Oakland, three-time winner, and Mrs. John Grew of Dedham, who won in '33 and '41.

The defending titlist, Mrs. H. Warren Beard, four-times winner, has moved to California and will not defend her title. The last time the tournament was staged was in 1942 when Mrs. Beard won 2 and 1 from Rose O'Neil, of Vesper.

Less Than 4 Minute Mile, Predicts Nurmi

By ESKOV VALKAMA

HELSINKI, June 3 (AP)—It will take a few years to overcome the effects of the war. But once that physical rehabilitation has been achieved, Paavo Nurmi predicts, youngsters will appear who can run the mile in less than four minutes, 5000 meters in approximately 13 minutes 40 seconds (present record 13:58.2) and 10,000 meters in 29 minutes (present record 29 52.6).

"The longer the distance, the easier and better the record," says Nurmi

Personally, the Flying Finn, now 49 years old, would like to be 30 years younger and have the experience gained in his many years of international competition. "Under those conditions, I'm sure I'd be in a position to better all present middle distance records," he says.

Though he is confident new records will be set for the middle distances within a few years, Nurmi has some misgivings about the post-war crop of athletes. He is concerned mainly about their attitude toward training and conditioning, and still has not got over being shocked at the sight of members of an athletic team smoking in the intermission of a match. Nurmi never has smoked. What he is hoping for is a return of Finland's national sports enthusiasm that earmarked the years 1910 to 1914.

PAAVO NURMI
Predicts 4-Minute Mile

Paavo, who rates his 1925 American tour alongside his Olympic appearances as his "most pleasant sports memories," believes that records alone cannot be the basis for judging the best athletes of all times. Prevailing conditions, opportunities for training and the general level of records existing at the time must be taken into consideration. As far as his own career is concerned, he feels it was extremely useful that he never concentrated on any one distance but ran anything from 800 to 10,000 meters.

"On the other hand," he explains, "this also meant that often my records did not correspond to my capabilities. Because the world records for many distances stood in my name, I could not be spurred to beat them, which I most certainly could have done without any trouble."

Nurmi trained for a special distance only once, for the marathon at the Los Angeles Olympic games in 1932. "Even today I am annoyed," he says, "that I didn't do my best in that race and achieve a result which certainly wouldn't be approached even today."

He regards his performance in the 1924 Paris Olympic games, in which he won and set records at 1500 and 5000 meters, as one of the best of his career. He says he felt himself so superior to the world's other runners at that stage "that a counterpart of this situation hardly will occur again. I think it unique," he adds, "that in winning the 1500 meters I slowed down by a third in the stretch to conserve strength."

Park Leaguers Back in Action

With the hope that the period of freak weather is past, the Park League takes off tonight on the fifth week of the campaign with all but two of the loop's clubs operating. Only one night of play was recorded last week, and the leaders won and the followers failed, so that the standings have remained static for 10 days, but tonight a real threat will be made to West Roxbury's leadership of the East division when the Blakemen visit Fallon Field for a battle with the Royals.

And a battle royal it promises to be, with Roslindale assigning fastball ace Roy Sampson to the rubber, and he will be opposed by artful Joe Callahan, who, besides his assortment of hooks, can depend on the pitching-pulverizing of his mates from the swank suburb.

Lennie Merullo's young brother Tom saves all his punches for his turns at bat, and his hitting and second-basing will be on display tonight at American Legion, when his Quality Baking mates take off against the Lanes. At Dorchester Town Field, Dick Casey and Chick Artesani will go all out for a win when their clubs do battle in an attempt to break the deadlock in the East division's third place position. Casey will use Ace Healy hurling, and the old twi tosser will be pitted against Big John Smith.

Glynn Club's hopes depend on its beating the McCarthys at South Boston, and the additional hope that the Royals topple West Roxbury, thus opening the road to first place to the Roxburyites. If the Veterans Administration can overcome the McDonoughs' curve-balling Joe Libby this p. m., the ex-combateers will have some company in the West division's cold cellar.

Greb Fights Callura In Salem Feature

One of the outstanding matches of the North Shore fistic season will take place tomorrow night at the Salem Arena. The principals in this 10 round feature fray will be Tommy Greb of the West End and Jackie Callura, Hamilton, Ontario, former featherweight champion of the world.

Greb is a North Shore favorite, having appeared there many times and never losing one. His only loss in 34 starts came at the hands of Tony Costa at the Boston Garden. Callura showed he has not lost any of his punching power when he knocked out Jackie Harris in nine rounds.

Pacino vs. Johnson In Semi-Final Bout

Belting Larry Pacino of Roxbury will meet Johnny Johnson of Philadelphia in the eight-round semi-final to the Al "Red" Priest-Joe Blackwood classic main event on a Goodwin A. C. fight card at the Boston Garden Friday night.

Blackwood's famed "bolo" punch may be nullified as a lethal weapon when he tries to smash it into Priest next Friday. Red has prepared a defense for this punch.

WELLS BATTLES GAGNE

Two tough punching ringsters, Tommy Wells, Manchester, N. H. and Jean Gagne, Montreal, will meet in the weekly fistic feature at Manchester, N. H., tomorrow night. Wells has lost but one start since he was discharged from the service and has stopped most of his opponents.

Cassidy Post to Meet Neponset

The strong Cassidy Post, American Legion nine from Roxbury, winner of its last six games, will be out to strengthen its lead in the Hub City Twi League tonight against Neponset Town Team at the Marcella st. grounds, Roxbury.

In the only other contest listed tonight, St. Lazarus, sharing second place with the Colored Giants and only a game behind the pacesetting World War II vets, will journey to Fens Stadium to battle the Mission Hill Post, American Legion, from Roxbury.

Brundage Endorses McKenley's Record

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, June 3 (INS)—Herb McKenley's record-shattering :46.2 performance for the quarter mile in yesterday's Big Ten outdoor finals was in the proper hands today—and well on its way toward becoming the official world's record.

From Avery Brundage, chairman of the Rules and Records committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, came the opinion that neither wind nor track layout should stand in McKenley's way.

The 21-year-old Negro speedster from Jamaica, West Indies, and the University of Illinois shattered the existing world's mark by two tenths of a second in the 440-yard race at Illinois' Memorial Stadium in Champaign, Ill., Saturday. Ben Eastman of Stanford established the previous record of :46.4 in 1932, and nine years later Grover Klemmer of California duplicated Eastman's accomplishment.

McKenley's victory was run out of a chute in the northwest corner of the stadium. This necessitated only one turn during the whole race. Moreover, a six-mile-per-hour northeast wind helped Hustlin' Herb along through the initial phase of the two-furlong gallop.

However, Brundage, whose organization passes on all new marks, said today:

"You've got to remember that McKenley set that time in the rain and over a track which was not at its best. I think those two elements more than overshadow the wind and the track layout."

Brundage added that he would have special clockers at Minneapolis June 21 and 22 when the National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n finals are run off. These stopwatch-holders will time McKenley's performance over the 400-meter route as he runs the quarter-mile. The 440-yard race is at stake in the NCAA games, but the 400-meter assignment is the one common to international Olympic games, and the 1948 Olympics look to be right down McKenley's alley.

It must be remembered that Herb, then a member of Boston College's team, won the 400-meter task in the National A. A. U. outdoor finals last year. It must also be remembered that he boasts considerable accomplishments at the shorter sprint distances.

One other thing—as a native of Kingston, Jamaica, McKenley is a British subject, and must run for the British team in an Olympic festival. Olympic rules permit Herb to take out United States citizenship at any time up to the games themselves—and indications today were that sooner or later the lithe, brown-skinned McKenley would do just that.

Badgers Dream Of Keepsie Win

ITHACA, N. Y., June 3 (AP)—Wisconsin's unconquered crew, one victory short of national honors, is primed for the clincher at Seattle on June 22. The Badger boatmen already are dreaming of victory next year on the Hudson when rowing's royal regatta probably will be resumed at Poughkeepsie.

The Badgers, who this season swept to their first regatta titles in 65 years, are charting ambitious courses to Poughkeepsie and continued national prominence.

After their easy victory over an Ivy League flotilla here Saturday—their third in the East—Coach Allen Walz talked of expanded operations with Eastern eights.

Wisconsin, he said, has made tentative arrangements for races with Cornell, Pennsylvania, Navy, Columbia and Syracuse on a home-and-home basis over a period of years.

The Eastern crews, he explained, would row at Madison, one each year in successive years.

Braves Meet Cards With Mike M'Cormick

ST. LOUIS, June 3—As the Braves rest up until tomorrow night for their next game under lights against the St. Louis Cards it is increasingly evident that the executive force of the team has been mighty busy over the last few days. Last night John Quinn and Lou Perini announced the purchase of Mike McCormick, the Cincinnati Red outfielder.

Mac has been no ball of fire to date but Mgr. Billy Southworth believes this veteran, with every day work, will take his present batting average of .216 and send it sky high. Mike is a long hitter, just what the Braves need. He got little chance to show with the Reds except in a pinch hitting role, a most trying assignment for anybody going in there cold.

Playing against the Cards tomorrow night isn't exactly a lovely assignment for any team. The Cards dropped a twin bill to the Giants Sunday and are likely to rebound against the Braves. The defections of the star Cards to the Mexican League is taking its toll.

Maybe the Cards are being outplayed, but there is a strong suspicion that all is not right in the camp. The Card players, according to grapevine sources, are poorly paid and the frequent lucrative offers from Mexican League sources haven't improved their state of mind.

It wouldn't make the Braves mad a bit if the home boys "dog" it against the Southworth men.

The Braves have an excellent chance to head the second division if they have any luck at all against the Cubs. The Giants lead the Tribe by only a half game. Then, too, the fourth place Reds are only 1½ games ahead of the Boston entry.

The loss of "Bama" Rowell continues to plague Billy Southworth.

MIKE McCORMICK
Purchased by Braves

The left fielder is suffering constant pain from an ailing back condition. Billy fears the services of a specialist might be needed to bring Rowell back to normal. Meanwhile Gilly Gillenwater is patrolling the left field beat and doing a fairly good job of it.

Skippy Roberge continues to improve in his hitting. He picked up three singles in yesterday's twin bill with the Cubs. The Lowell kid's average is only .253 but the fact that he is improving is a most promising sign.

Phil Masi had one of his hot days in the first Sunday game when he singled and homered. He accounted for three runs.

Ossipee District Teeming With Fish

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

OSSIPEE, N. H., June 3—This section is teeming with fish—and fishermen!

Hundreds of anglers, the largest number in years, have been plying their rods in the many streams, lakes, and ponds that stipple this terrain, over the long Memorial Day "week-end" and, as one old-timer put it, "there seemed to be two sportsmen for every fish." Trying our luck in famous Pine River, that snakes its way for miles through the Ossipees, we saw and talked with scores of enthusiasts, learning that the upper end, known as The Ox Bow, was the most productive at the moment, where several nice strings of brookies, averaging up to one pound each, had been taken.

At other stretches along the stream, the trout were rising for flies, but they were difficult to hook, as evidenced by empty creels . . . The State released more fish in the river recently.

Quite a few were fishing out of Deer Cove Lodge, in Ossipee Lake, and plenty of good catches of squaretails were reported . . . Meadow Cove is the "hot spot" here for trout and pickerel . . . Boats dotted White Pond, also in Ossipee, with the squaretails striking in the morning hours . . . A two-pounder of this specie was landed from Connor Pond, high up in the Ossipee Mountains.

Back again on the angling map is fabulous Dan Hole Pond, renowned in past years for its sparkling golden trout and salmon. Goldens are being stocked here by N. H. Div. of Fisheries and Game.

Shawtown Pond, Freedom, should yield generous amounts of squaretails through this month . . . And if you like these babies, try Copp's Beaver Pond, off the beaten path in Melvin . . . Anglers were plentiful at Lake Winnipesaukee. Biggest salmon hooked here this spring was an eight-pounder.

ANGLING ANGLES: We fished Duncan Lake, Ossipee, for two days, finally hitting two pickerel, trolling a spoon, which were thrown back . . . Driving up, there were many casting from the General Sullivan Bridge, which spans the Piscataqua River, near Dover. Stripers have been in the river for a couple of weeks, and one that weighed 28 pounds was caught this week-end.

School Record?

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3 (INS)—The fastest scholastic mile in American track history was claimed for a 17-year-old Ashland, Ore. high school runner yesterday—although he came in second.

Lanky George Fullerton stopped the clock at 4:20.5 but the prep school runner was three strides behind a collage entrant in the state A. A. U. open meet at Portland Saturday.

His coach forwarded Fullerton's achievement to National Interscholastic headquarters as bettering the record 4:21.2 set for the mile in 1934 by former U. S. C. track star Louis Zaperini while at Torrance, Cal., high school.

N. E. Scholastics Grab Spotlight

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy track, practically forgotten in past years after the annual State Meet, will spring back into the sports spotlight Saturday afternoon when Director Ralph Colson will line up close to 300 entries for the New England interscholastics to be held at Brookline field in conjunction with the local Park Department.

Entry lists have been held open until tonight to allow the out-of-staters plenty of time to forward their nominations.

Ralph Colson

Without exception, every State champion and second place man from the recent Newton convention will be back in the NE competition. Director Colson, as a timer, saw to it that only a break in the weather is needed to make this meet the outstanding affair of the track campaigning. There'll be just one class so that standouts from smaller schools, such as John Buckley of Needham, will be up against the best in the 100-yard dash field.

The NE's will bring out officials of the State Meet to watch the popularity of the mile run. This distance has been dropped from State competition but it may be returned next season. The decision may depend on the number of entries who file for this test.

Actually, competition should be keener than in the state meet. Buckley, tying the Class B record at 10.3, will be forced to meet a higher class type of opposition so that new marks could be set up. For example, Bob Farrell of Boston English turned in the same time, just inches ahead of Brookline's Murray Pearlstein, Somerville's Al Bartolucci and Newton's Gordon McAdams.

Meanwhile, Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n will meet this week to select the baseball team for the annual Eastern Mass. Championship to be held at Braves Field next week, an event put over on the calendar. There's a slim possibility that the teams will be announced later in the week to save a few coaches a few gray hairs.

A good example would be Coach Trem Robarts of Marblehead, a former Coast Guardsman, whose team has taken over an undisputed lead in the Northeast Conference with nine straight victories, but now must wait the decision of the writers. There's been no definite word on any league having a definite invitation so that the Headers, with an outstanding pitcher in George Goodwin, pacing the team.

Brockton fans were disappointed that the selections hadn't been made at the appointed time. Then, the Shoe City nine had chalked up an undefeated record in nine starts. Quincy's club kayoed the Brockton sluggers for the first time Friday and a quick recovery will be needed to keep Coach Charlie Holden's team in the running.

Play-offs may be necessary over the coming week-end to whittle the field to the required eight.

'Big Ten' Passes; 'Nine' Tag to Stay

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 3 (AP)—Kissing the University of Chicago good-bye, the Western Conference today officially was listed as the Big Nine with the prospect that the Maroons' vacated berth will remain unfilled for some time.

The conference faculty committee Saturday formally accepted Chicago's resignation, although the league's charter member has been a "poor relation" ever since A. A. Stagg "retired" at the midway in 1932.

Disappointing Michigan State College and the University of Pittsburgh which sent representatives to the Champaign meeting in hopes of snaring a membership bid, Conference officials agreed to shelve for the present the matter of replacing the Maroons.

Suffolk Shorts

The first week of racing at Suffolk Downs was brought to a close much the same way as it began, with the wind and rain holding down the mutual and attendance figures. Although it was rather a miserable day over and under head the 25,000 odd fans wagered close to the million and a half mark. If spring hadnt come to a sudden halt the handle would have soared over the two million mark for the second time in a week.

The "Constitution" handicap proved to be a real thriller when the heavily backed Phidias came with a belated rush to cop the $10,000 added feature in the last few strides. The veteran pilot Lindberg booted the W. Helis-owned son of Rosemont over the one-mile course. Phidias is now pointing for the $25,000 added Yankee handicap next Saturday.

All the thoroughbreds who ran in the "Constitution" Saturday are nominated for the rich 3-year-old stake which is becoming one of the finest stakes in the country with every additional running.

The "Yankee" is run over the one mile and three sixteenths route, and Secretary John Turner expects a field of nine to face the barrier come Saturday. Among some of the nominees are: Maine Chance Farm's Lord Boswell, Knockdown, Colony Boy, Perfect Bahram and War Pippin.

The second suspension of the Downs meting was drawn down by jockey H. Sconza. Sconza was given a 10-day suspension starting June 4 for failing to keep his mount, Big Thicket, straight during the stretch run in the second race Saturday.

THOMAS CARE
Oddly enough, summer is both the best and worst season for your hair. Best, because hair grows faster in the summer than at any other time. Worst, because the hot rays of the mid-day sun, plus excessive perspiration, may leave your hair dry, straw-like, brittle, and faded. Therefore, you should start now to give your hair proper care and attention. By starting now you learn how to make the sun help (not harm) your hair and you take advantage of the fact that hair grows faster in the summer.
Consult a skilled Thomas hair expert today—in private, without charge. Let him show you exactly how the reliable, 20-year proved Thomas method provides proper hygienic care for your hair, removes itchy dandruff scales, and leaves your scalp with a clean, fresh, healthy feeling.

Johnson Losing Hospital Fight

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—Physicians attending Walter Johnson, seriously ill in Georgetown Hospital, said at noon yesterday that the former pitching star for the Washington Senators had "lost ground in the last 24 hours."

Eight hours later his condition was reported to be unchanged. Johnson, suffering from a brain tumor, has been unconscious most of the time since last Tuesday.

English Soccer Team Has 46 Goals, Yanks 7

CHICAGO, June 3 (AP)—The fast, aggressive Liverpool, Eng., soccer team scored its seventh straight victory in a current tour of the United States by out-booting the Chicago Maroons of the newly-organized North American League, 9 to 3, before 7000 shivering spectators at Soldiers Field yesterday.

The Liverpool club which next plays the United Ulsters at Toronto, Can., Wednesday, was paced by inside left Jack Balmer and Capt. Willie Fagan, center forward, with four and three goals respectively.

Controlling the ball most of the way, Liverpool gained a 6-3 halftime lead. Chicago collected its three goals, two of them by center forward Orville Maron, in the last eight minutes of the opening period. The English team now has outscored American opponents, 46 goals to seven.

Driver Vanished—Speeding along Wollaston Beach Pkwy., the driver of this car lost control and the machine hurtled the sea wall, landing on its side on Wollaston Beach. Apparently uninjured, he vanished before police arrived on the scene. The car had been previously reported stolen from in front of a Quincy church while the owner was attending services.

Death Scene

Police prepare to remove the body of Frank T. Morrissey, 34-year-old Boston cab driver who was slain on Auburn st., Medford, from the scene. Police believe he was murdered for his night's receipts, totalling about $20. His pockets were turned inside out when the body was found by a boy.

INP by Larry McDavitt

Rescued Victims

Hot soup and sandwiches are devoured by Philadelphia Cub Scouts following their rescue from an island in Collegeville, Pa. They were left stranded when the sudden rise of Perkioman Creek cut off their only means of reaching the mainland. One of their companions was drowned in a rescue attempt.
